FOREWORD

Dear pupil,

The Rwanda Basic Education Board (REB) is honoured to present to you this English book for primary five. This Textbook is designed to support the effective implementation of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC); ensuring learner-centered teaching practices that align with Rwanda's vision of empowering pupils to reach their full potential, actively participate in society, and pursue meaningful careers.

As Rwanda advances toward building a knowledge-based economy, education plays a pivotal role. Teachers are central to this transformation, guiding pupils to connect classroom knowledge with real-life experiences, thus fostering individual growth and national development.

This pupil's book serves as a comprehensive resource for teaching English subject at Primary Five. The subject is an integral part of the CBC, aimed at equipping pupils with essential knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes necessary for becoming responsible and competent citizens. Through this subject, pupils are encouraged to develop problem-solving abilities and contribute positively to their communities.

In pursuit of quality education, the Government of Rwanda emphasizes the importance of using teaching and learning materials that are aligned with the curriculum.

I sincerely thank everyone who contributed to the refinement of this textbook. Special recognition goes to the REB team who coordinated the entire process. We thank all partners, teachers, and individuals who were involved in the process from start to the end. Every feedback was highly valued and helped to improve learning outcomes of our pupils.

Dr. MBARUSHIMANA Nelson

Director General, REB

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to everyone who contributed to the refinement of the English pupils' book for primary five. This achievement would not have been possible without the active involvement of various stakeholders.

Special thanks go to Rwanda Basic Education Board (REB) staff; subject experts; university lecturers and teachers for their valuable work in the adaptation of this textbook.

I am also grateful to all our education development partners whose support was instrumental throughout the process.

Ms. MURUNGI Joan,

Head of Curriculum, Teaching and Learning Resources Department/REB

PAST AND FUTURE EVENTS

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about past experiences and future plans while promoting truthfulness in recounting events and responsibility in planning future actions.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Recognize the use of the past simple tense and future tense with "going to," "would like to," and "want to."
- Recognize and use connectors of time to link past experiences and future plans in a logical sequence.

Skills

- Tell and write about past and future events using correct tenses and connectors.
- Express intentions and desires clearly using appropriate future forms.

Attitudes and values

- Show interest and curiosity in discussing personal and historical events.
- Promote honesty and truthfulness in storytelling and writing, show respect for others, and develop a sense of responsibility while talking about the future plans

INTRODUCTION

We do many things every day. Some happened yesterday or last week, these are past events. Others will happen tomorrow or next year, these are future events. In this unit, you will learn how to talk about things you did before and things you are going to do. You will also learn to use words like yesterday, last week, tomorrow, and next year to talk about time.

Introductory activity

Read the story below. Answer the questions that follow.

Every morning, Eric and Amina walk to school together. They are best friends in primary five. As they walk, they think about their future.

Eric wants to be a doctor. He dreams of helping sick people and making them feel better. Amina wants to be an engineer. She hopes to build strong bridges and tall buildings.

They both know that dreams come true with hard work. That's why they go to school early, listen in class, and do their best in every subject.

The path to school may be long and dusty, but Eric and Amina Walk it with hope. They believe their future starts today.

Questions

1. What does Eric want to be in the future?
2. What is Amina's dream job?
3. What do they do to reach their dreams?
4. What lesson can you learn from this story?
5. What can you do now to help you achieve your future goals?

1.1. Telling your life story

Activity 1.1.1

Read the story below carefully. Answer the questions that follow.

My Life Story

My name is Amani. I am thirteen-years-old. I was born in Muyange village. As a child, I spent my days playing with friends in the fields and helping my parents with farm work. I started school when I was six years old. On my first day at school, I first met my teacher. Then, I sat in class, and received my very first book. After that, I made new friends and started enjoying school.

Today, I am a hardworking pupil. I study hard because I dream of becoming an English teacher in the future. My past experiences taught me many important lessons that continue to guide me as I grow.

Questions

1. Where was Amani born?
2. Why does Amani study hard now?
3. How did Amani feel when he met his first teacher?
4. What lesson can you learn from Amani's life story?

Activity 1.1.2

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct words from the list below.

Village, dream, future, story

1. A place where people live, often smaller than a town _____
2. Something you hope for in life _____
3. The time that comes after today _____

4. Why is it important to work hard to achieve your dreams?

Activity 1.3.3

Recite the poem below to the class.

Poem: Me in twenty years from now!

In twenty years, I'll be thirty-one,
Living in Rwanda, having lots of fun.
I'd like a house that's clean and bright,
With windows wide and full of light.

I'd like to be a police officer strong,
Helping people and stopping wrong.
I'll catch the thieves and make things right,
And keep the city safe at night.

I'll have a family, happy and kind,
With dreams and goals in every mind.
My children will go to a very good school,
They'll study hard and follow every rule.

They'll grow up smart and serve the land,
Helping others with heart and hand.
And I'll be proud, as you can see,
Because they'll be good, just like me!

Read the text below and answer the questions that follow

The class meeting plan

Last week, former pupils of Primary Five had a class meeting. They talked about their favourite memories. Some remembered playing football at break time. Others talked about reading books under the trees. They laughed and shared photos.

Now, they are planning a class reunion. They are going to meet at their old school next Saturday. They would like to clean the school compound, plant trees, and donate books. Each person will bring something special. Amina wants to bring snacks. Jean is going to prepare a short speech. They are all excited.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two sentences in the past simple tense.
2. Identify two sentences in the future tense (using "going to", "would like to", or "want to").
3. Write one connector used in the passage.

B. Skills

Reading comprehension

1. What did the former pupils do at their meeting last week?
2. What would they like to do during the reunion?
3. What is Jean going to do on that day?

Writing

Write a paragraph about your own future plan for your Primary Six graduation. Use:

- ☐ At least one sentence in the past tense
- ☐ At least two sentences in the future tense
- ☐ A connector (e.g., then, next, after that)

Speaking

Talk about one memory from Primary Five and one plan you have for next year. Use:

- ☐ "Last term, I…"
- ☐ "Next year, I am going to…"

Listening

Teacher reads aloud:

"Last weekend, Alice visited her grandmother. They cooked food and told stories. Alice promised to visit again next month. She is going to bring some gifts and help clean the house."

Questions

1. Who did Alice visit last weekend?
2. What did they do together?
3. What will Alice bring next time?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to remember and share past experiences?
2. What can we learn from planning future events with others?

Unit 2

CLASSROOM LANGUAGE

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively during classroom interactions while promoting attentive listening, respectful turn-taking, and cooperation in group work.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify and explain the use of imperative sentences, question forms, conjunctions, and time prepositions in classroom language.
- Explain the meaning and correct usage of contrasting conjunctions in communication.

Skills

- Use appropriate classroom language to give clear instructions, ask and answer questions.
- Construct sentences using imperatives, time prepositions, and contrasting conjunctions in both written and spoken English.

Attitudes and values

- Demonstrate confidence and respect when giving orders or contributing to group discussions.
- Show willingness to collaborate and listen to others' ideas by applying appropriate communication strategies and polite expressions.

INTRODUCTION

At school, we learn different subjects like Science, Mathematics, and Social Studies. Each subject has its own words and ways of speaking. In this unit, you will learn how to give instructions, talk politely in group work, use books and charts for learning, and plan your writing. This will help you understand lessons better and work well with others in class.

Introductory activity

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow.

One day, Primary Five pupils had a group activity in class. The teacher gave clear instructions: "Work in small groups. Use your textbooks, wall charts, and dictionaries. Help one another."

Each group started working. They talked about their answers and compared them with other groups. Amina said, "Our answer is not the same. Let's check the dictionary and see who is correct."

They used the books and wrote their answers neatly. After that, they read their work again and made changes to improve it.

Questions.

1. Why is it important to plan and check your writing before finishing your work?
2. How can using reference materials like dictionaries or charts help you in group work?
3. What should you do if your answer is different from your group members' answers?

Example:

- Listen to your teacher carefully
- Don't shout in class

2.2. Sharing ideas during group work

Activity 2.2.1

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow

Project Time

Musoni's group met in the classroom to start their science project. Their teacher had asked them to prepare a short presentation about protecting the environment. Musoni began, "The environment is everything around us—like trees, animals, air, and water." Teta smiled and said, "The word conservation means taking care of nature."

Kamanzi nodded. "Yes, that's true."

"What about endangered species?" Murerwa asked.

Musoni explained, "Endangered species are animals that are in danger of disappearing forever."

"And pollution?" Murerwa added.

"Pollution means dirty things that harm the environment," Musoni replied.

"Well said, Musoni! Teamwork helps us learn better," said Kamanzi.

The group planned their research carefully. Everyone knew what to do. By working together, they were ready to succeed!

Questions

1. What were the pupils going to do?
2. Who is the team leader? Why?
3. Kamanzi said, "teamwork helps us learn better" Do you agree? Why?
4. Why is it important to share ideas during group work?
5. What can you do to be a responsible and helpful group member?

Activity 2.2.2

Complete the following definitions

1. The environment is.....

Activity 2.2.4

You just finished your work. Write a short group report (6–8 sentences) explaining what you learned. Include at least four definitions using these expressions:

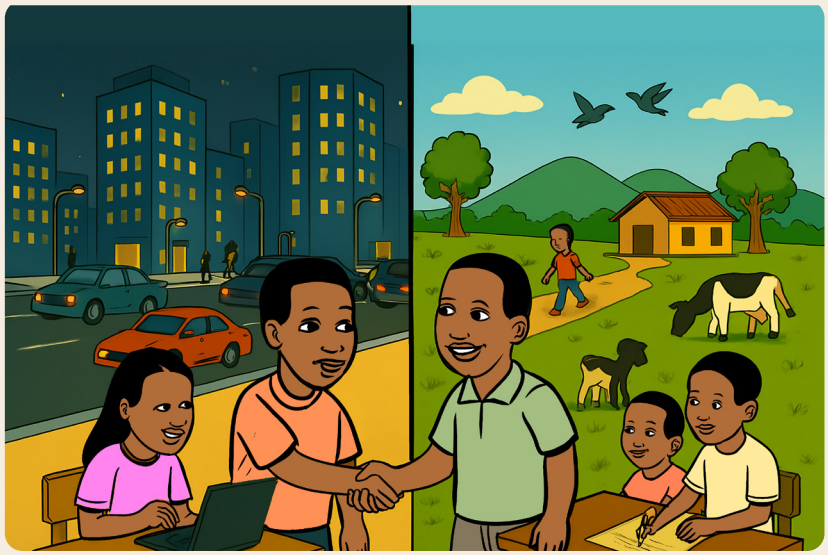
- is
- means
- refers to
- is defined as

2.3. Expressing different opinions and preferences

Activity 2.3.1

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow.

The two friends



Mwiza and Mugisha were best friends. They both loved spending time together, even though they lived in very different places.

Mwiza lived in the busy city of Kigali. There were many cars, tall buildings, and bright lights. He enjoyed using computers and playing games on his phone.

Mugisha lived in the quiet hills of Musanze. He loved listening to birds sing and helping his parents on the farm. There were green fields, fresh air, and lots of animals.

During the school holiday, they visited each other. When Mugisha went to Kigali, he was amazed by the tall buildings and busy streets, but he missed the fresh air and quiet of the village.

When Mwiza visited Musanze, he enjoyed running in the big open fields and seeing cows and goats, but he missed the fast life and technology of the city.

In the end, Mwiza and Mugisha learned something important: the city and the village are different, but each place is special in its own way.

Questions

1. Who are the people in the story? Where do they live?
2. What shows that both Mwiza and Mugisha liked their home places?
3. What can we learn from Mwiza and Mugisha about appreciating differences?
4. Why is it important to visit and learn about other places or ways of life?

Activity 2.3.2

Work in pairs. Take turns to talk about two places or things you know that are different. Use words like although, while, whereas, but.

Example: The village is quiet while the city is noisy.

Activity 2.3.3

Listen carefully as the teacher reads a story. Answer the questions that follow.

Tom and Ben are brothers. While Tom likes playing football, Ben enjoys reading books. Tom is running outside whereas Ben is seated quietly in the library. They are different, but they love each other.

1. What does Tom like doing?
2. What does Ben enjoy?
3. How are Tom and Ben different?

Grammar

Contrasting Words

To contrast two things is to discuss the difference between them. The key words to use are:

Nevertheless; In contrast (to) / in comparison (to); Nonetheless; While; Whereas; Although / even though; On the other hand; Though; On the contrary; But; Despite / in spite of

Examples:

Word	Examples
Although	Although Mugisha liked the tall buildings, he missed is home village.
While	While Mwiza loved city life, Mugisha enjoyed village life.
Whereas	Mwiza used technology whereas Mugisha worked on the farm.

Activity 2.3.4

Fill in the blank spaces with: although, while, whereas despite and but

1. Mugisha liked nature, whereas Mwiza liked the city life.
2. _____ Mugisha enjoyed the tall buildings, he missed the fresh air.
3. Mwiza used a computer, _____ Mugisha worked on the farm.
4. _____ they were different, they were still good friends.
5. Mwiza liked Musanze, _____ he lived in Kigali.
6. _____ living in different places, Mwiza and Mugisha were good friends.

Activity 2.3.5

Rewrite the sentences using the word in brackets

1. Mwiza liked the city. Mugisha liked the village. (Use: whereas)
   - Whereas Mwiza liked the city, Mugisha liked the village.
2. Mugisha saw tall buildings. He still missed the village. (Use: although)
3. Mwiza enjoyed technology. Mugisha enjoyed farming. (Use: while)

Activity 2.3.6

Read the sentences below to discuss their meaning.

1. A bird has two legs, but an insect has six.
2. Although Jane worked until late, she did not complete her work.
3. Despite coming to school early, Kessy did not finish writing all notes.
4. Even though she attended all her classes, she did not pass her examination
5. A lion behaves differently from an elephant.
6. While most pupils attend school regularly, many pupils do not attend classes.

2.4. Using reference materials

Activity 2.4.1

Read the text below. Answer the questions that follow

Reference books in learning.

Reference books are special books that help us find important information. They make learning easier!

A dictionary helps us understand the meaning of words, how to spell them, and how to say them correctly. An encyclopedia gives us detailed facts about many topics, like animals, history, and science. An atlas is a book full of maps. It shows countries, cities, and natural features like rivers and mountains.

A thesaurus helps us improve our writing by giving us other words that mean the same (synonyms) or the opposite (antonyms). A textbook explains lessons clearly and helps us understand what we are learning in class. We use reference books in different ways. Sometimes we use a dictionary before writing a story. We may read an encyclopedia in the library to learn about wildlife. During social studies, we use an atlas to find places on a map. We read textbooks in the morning, at school, or at home when we revise.

When we use reference books regularly, we become smarter and better at our schoolwork. These books are our learning friends!

Questions

1. What is a reference book?
2. Name three types of reference books mentioned.
3. How do pupils use reference books?
4. Why is it important to use reference books regularly?

Activity 2.4.2

Pronounce these words correctly and rewrite them.

1. en-cy-clo-pae-di-a .....
2. ref-er-ence .....
3. dic-tion-ar-y .....
4. text-book .....
5. at-las .....
6. the-sau-ruses .....

Activity 2.4.3

Talk about your favourite reference books. Explain how and when you use them. Consider the following guiding questions to help you prepare what to say:

- What is your favourite reference book?
- What does it help you with?
- When do you use it?
- Why do you like it

Example: "My favourite reference book is the dictionary. It helps me to know the meaning of words. I use it when I am reading and when I want to write. I like it because it helps me to spell words correctly."

Activity 2.4.4

Write a short paragraph (5–7 sentences) about a day you used your favourite reference book.
In your paragraph:

- Say which reference book you used.
- Say when and where you used it (use in, at, before, after).
- Say how the book helped you.

2.5. Planning and evaluating writing

Activity 2.5.1

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Kwizera learns to write better

Kwizera loved writing stories, but sometimes his stories were not good. One day, he asked his English teacher, "How can I write better?"

The teacher said, "Good writing has steps. First, you plan your story. Then, you write a draft. After that, you revise to improve it. Finally, you write the final copy."

She explained:

- Planning: Write your ideas first.
- Drafting: Write freely without worrying about mistakes.

- Revising: Add or change ideas to make your story better.
- Final copy: Correct mistakes and make it neat.

Kwizera followed all the steps. He wrote a great story, and his teacher was very happy.

Kwizera felt proud. He learned that writing becomes easier when you follow the right steps.

Answer these questions

1. What should you consider before you start writing?
2. What four steps are involved in writing a good story?
3. Why is it important to plan for your story?
4. What do we learn from Kwizera's story?

Activity 2.5.2

Say what you do when writing. Use "first, next, then, and finally".

Example:

First, I make a plan.

Next, I write the draft.

Then, ...

Finally, ...

Grammar

Connectors of time

Connectors of time are words we use to show the order in which things happen.

Examples

Connector	Use	Example from text or context
First	To begin the sequence	First, you plan your story.
Next	To show what comes after	Next, you write a draft.
Then	To continue with more actions	Then, you improve your ideas and add details.
Finally,	To show the last step	Finally, you correct mistakes in the final copy.

Activity 2.5.3

Fill in the blanks with First, Next, Then, or Finally

1. _____, I think about what I want to write.
2. _____, I write my ideas in a draft.
3. _____, I read my draft and improve it.
4. _____, I write the final story and correct mistakes

2.6. Sounds and spelling

Sound of	Alternative spellings	Examples
ee	ee	tree, feet, see, sleep
	ea	read, meat, team, tea, clean
	e	me, he, she, we
	y	happy, baby, sunny, funny
	ie	field, chief, thief,
	ey	key, monkey, donkey, valley

Activity 2.6.1

Read and pronounce these words correctly.

1. achieve
2. shield
3. relief
4. retrieve
5. beach
6. seal
7. knead

End of unit assessment

Read the text below and answer the questions that follow

"A busy science lesson"

It was a Friday morning. Primary Five pupils were in their science class. The teacher entered and said, "Sit down. Open your books on page 10." The pupils quickly followed the instructions. They were learning about the environment. In groups, they discussed the causes of pollution. Musa said, "Our answers are different, but let's check the book before we decide." Their teacher reminded them to write neatly and review their work. At the end of the lesson, she told them, "Please clean the board and put the books back."

The pupils felt happy because they had worked well as a team. Although they had different ideas, they respected each other and completed the task on time.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two imperative sentences from the story.
2. Identify one time preposition used in the story.
3. Write a contrasting conjunction used in the story.

B. Skills

Reading Comprehension

1. What subject were the pupils studying?
2. What was Musa's suggestion to his group?
3. What did the teacher say at the end of the lesson?

Writing: Imagine you are in a Mathematics lesson. Write 5 short classroom instructions you would give to your group using imperatives. Use at least:

- ☐ 1 polite request (e.g., "Please...")
- ☐ 1 instruction with a negative form (e.g., "Don't...")

Speaking

With your partner, take turns giving and responding to polite classroom instructions. Use:

- ☐ "Please pass me the ruler."
- ☐ "Don't talk loudly."
- ☐ "Can I use your eraser?"
- ☐ Add your own polite classroom request.

Listening

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow

"During Social Studies, the teacher said, 'Open your notebooks and listen carefully.' Pupils wrote answers and discussed in pairs. After that, they presented their ideas to the class. The teacher praised their teamwork and told them to review their notes at home."

Questions

1. What subject were the pupils learning?
2. What did they do after writing answers?
3. What did the teacher tell them to do at home?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to follow classroom instructions?
2. How can we show respect during group work?

Unit 3

READING

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about texts, reading habits, and reading preferences while promoting regular reading, thoughtful interpretation, and respect for different opinions.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify different types and sources of reading materials.
- Recall and use key grammar structures such as the past simple tense, adverbs of frequency, and because/too...to/for/enough to clauses.

Skills

- Talk and write about what you read using correct grammar and vocabulary.
- Describe your reading habits and preferences clearly and confidently.

Attitudes and values

- Show interest and motivation in reading different types of materials.
- Appreciate the importance of reading, and respect others' reading choices and opinions during discussions.

INTRODUCTION

Reading helps us learn new things and enjoy good stories. When we read, we discover new words, ideas, and places. In this unit, you will read short texts, answer questions, and talk about what you have read. You will also learn how to read with understanding and become a better reader every day.

Introductory activity

Look at the picture below and name the sources the children are reading from.

Match the reading sources with the type of information we get from each.

Reading source	Information read in the source
1. story books	a) Word meaning, spelling and pronunciation
2. dictionary	b) Daily news
3. magazines	c) Fiction stories and adventures
4. comics	d) Funny stories that make you laugh
5. newspapers	e) Invitations to ceremonies
6. cards	f) Education topics and lessons
7. Textbooks	g) articles about fashion, sports or science.

3.1. Telling stories

Activity 3.1.1

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow.

Eagle and Fox

One morning, Fox said to his children, "I will find some eggs for breakfast." Then he went into the forest. Fox saw an eagle's nest in the top branches of a tall tree.

"How can I reach those eggs?" he wondered. "Ha, ha! I have a plan."

He put some sticks into his ears and knocked on the tree with them.

"Throw an egg to me," Fox shouted. "If you don't, I will knock down this great tree with these sticks in my ears!"

Eagle was terribly frightened, so she threw an egg down to Fox.

“Throw down another egg right now,” demanded fox, after seeing the Eagle’s fear.

“One egg is enough,” said the eagle. “I will not give you any more eggs.”

“Throw another egg to me,” said Fox, “or I’ll knock down the tree and take all your eggs!”

Eagle became even more frightened and threw down another egg. Then Fox laughed and said, “How could I knock down a big tree with small sticks?”

Eagle became very angry. She flew down from her nest, grabbed Fox with her sharp talons, and carried him far out to sea. She dropped him onto a lonely island.

Fox was left all alone.

Questions

1. What did Fox want to get for breakfast?
2. What did Fox see in the tree?
3. Why did Eagle give the eggs to Fox?
4. What lesson can we learn from Fox’s trick?
5. Do you think Fox was fair or unfair? Why?
6. Was Eagle right to take action in the end? Explain.

Activity 3.1.2

In groups of three, think about what could happen next in the story. What happened to Fox on the island? Make a new ending. Then choose one person to tell your story to the class.

Activity 3.1.3

Read the story once again. Check how well you recall the story. Answer whether the following sentences are true or false.

1. Fox went to find sticks for breakfast.
2. Fox made his home on the top branch of a tree.
3. To frighten Eagle, Fox put sticks in his ears.
4. The talons are the tail feathers of a bird.
5. Eagle dropped Fox on a lonely island.

Activity 3.1.4

Do you know any animal story? If yes, write it in your notebook. Read it again to check if it makes sense. Then, get ready to read it to the class.

If you don't know any animal story, ask someone at home (like your parents or grandparents) to tell you one. Write it down, read it to make sure it is clear, and bring it to share with your classmates.

Grammar

Past simple tense

We use the Simple Past Tense to talk about things that happened in the past (yesterday, last week, long ago, etc.).

Examples:

Positive	Negative	Question
The fox went into the forest	The fox did not go into the forest	Did the fox go into the forest?
The fox saw an eagle's nest	The fox did not see an eagle's nest	Did the fox see an eagle's nest?
The eagle became very angry	The eagle did not become very angry	Did the eagle become very angry?

3.2. Saying what I like reading

Activity 3.2.1

Look at the pictures below and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Questions.

1. What do you see in the pictures above?
2. What are the children doing ?
3. How often do you read alone? How about with friends?
4. What do you like reading most of the time?

Activity 3.2.2

Read the dialogue between Musoni and Muhirwa.
Answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Musoni: Good morning, Muhirwa.
Muhirwa: Good morning, Musoni.

Musoni: What are you doing?
Muhirwa: I am reading a book. I like reading in my free time.
Musoni: Why do you like reading?
Muhirwa: I like reading because books teach me new things.

Musoni: What are you reading now?
Muhirwa: I am reading a story about forests and animals.
I like learning about nature.
Musoni: What kind of books do you like reading most?
Muhirwa: I like reading story books because they help me understand new things.
Musoni: That sounds interesting! Where did you get this book?
Muhirwa: I got it from the library. You should read it too.

Musoni: Maybe I will! I think I will start reading too because it will help me get good marks .
Muhirwa: Please try it. Reading is fun and helpful.
Musoni: Thank you! Have a nice day.
Muhirwa: You are most welcome! Have a nice day too.

Answer these questions based on the dialogue.

1. Why does Muhirwa like reading?
2. Where did he get the book?
3. Why should we make time to read every day, even if we are busy?
4. Why should we take care of books and return them to the library?

Activity 3.2.3

Study the PUZZLE below carefully.

Identify and circle the words used in the dialogue.

R	K	N	O	W	L	E	D	G	E	N	M	L
E	E	J	K	R	W	R	B	O	A	T	D	I
A	A	P	F	O	R	E	S	T	S	G	P	B
D	S	H	U	N	O	Q	A	L	K	H	Y	R
I	D	R	N	L	U	P	X	J	I	U	V	A
N	F	Y	G	S	Y	S	V	D	L	I	W	R
G	M	U	J	A	G	A	W	C	L	K	E	Y
K	D	N	O	V	E	L	S	A	S	I	R	H

Activity 3.2.4

Move around the classroom and ask your classmates what they like reading and why. Then after, share what you found with the class.

For example,

1. I like reading novels because they are interesting and help me imagine new stories.
2. He likes reading magazines because they give him news and fun facts.
3. They like reading textbooks because they help them learn and understand school subjects.

Activity 3.2.5

Ask your friends what they like reading and why. Compare their likes and reasons with yours.

Grammar

1. Like + verb + ing : We use like + -ing to show what someone enjoys doing.

Examples: 1. I like reading books.
2. I like reading textbooks and novels.

2. Because: We use because to explain why we do something.

Examples: a) I like reading because books teach me new things.
b) I read story books because they are good.

Activity 3.2.6

Form the correct sentences from the table below.

Write them in your books.

Example: I like reading a dictionary because it teaches me spelling and new words.

I			newspapers.		they are interesting
We			a dictionary		they have a lot of fun
They	like/	reading	magazines	because	it encourages me
She	likes		novels		because they have knowledge
He			the bible		they contain daily news
You			textbooks		it teaches me new words

3.3. Talking about reading habits

Activity 3.3.1

Read the text below. Answer the questions that follow

My reading habits

My name is Amina. I like reading books! I always read after school because it helps me relax and learn new things. I usually read storybooks because they are fun and exciting. I often read with my younger brother, and we sometimes take turns reading aloud to each other.

On weekends, I frequently go to the school library to find new books. I rarely forget to read before bedtime. I never throw away my books. I like keeping them clean and safe on my shelf. Reading helps me learn new words and understand many ideas. That's why reading is one of my favourite things to do!

Questions:

1. What is Amina's hobby?
2. Who does she often read with?

3. Why is it good to read regularly like Amina?
4. How can reading help you become a better pupil?
5. Why is it important to take care of your books like Amina does?

Activity 3.3.2

Match the words in Column A with their correct meanings in Column B

Column A	Column B
1. Throw away	A. To look at words in a book and understand them
2. Storybook	B. Reading so others can hear you
3. Library	C. A place where we find books to borrow or read
4. Read	D. A book with stories, often for children
5. Aloud	E. To put something in the dustbin

Activity 3.3.3

With your seat mate, talk about your reading habits.

Use the following for guidance:

- "When do you read?"
- "Where do you like to read?"
- "What kind of books do you enjoy?"
- "Who do you read with?"

Grammar

Adverbs of frequency

Adverbs of frequency tell us how many times something happens.

Adverb	How many times?	Example
Always	100% of the time	I always read after school.
Usually,	About 80–90%	I usually read storybooks.
Often	About 70%	I often read with my brother.
Sometimes	About 50%	I sometimes read aloud.
Frequently	Similar to "often"	I frequently visit the library.
Rarely	About 10%	I rarely forget to read.
Never	0% of the time	I never throw away my books.

Activity 3.3.4

Fill in the blank spaces with adverbs of frequency:

1. I always _ go to the library. (every day)
2. She _____ forgets her book. (not at all)
3. We _____ read during lunch break. (about half the time)
4. He _____ reads storybooks on weekends. (very often)
5. They _____ enjoy reading. (all the time)

3.4. Skimming and scanning

Activity 3.4.1

Read the story below. Answer the questions that follow

A Visit to the library

One Friday afternoon, our teacher took us to the school library. The library was quiet, clean, and full of colourful books. It was a perfect place for pupils to read and discover new things.

Some pupils were reading storybooks, while others were using dictionaries to find the meanings of words. I walked around and picked a book about wild animals. It had a bright cover with pictures of lions, elephants, and giraffes.

I sat near the window and opened the book. I wanted to know what the book was about, so I read quickly through the pages. The pictures were big and clear, which helped me understand the stories better.

My teacher saw me reading and said, "That is called skimming. We skim a book when we read quickly to find out what it is about."

Later, I wanted to read a story about giraffes. I checked the table of contents and saw "Giraffes" on page twelve. I turned straight to that page.

"That is called scanning," my teacher said. "We scan when we look for a special piece of information in a text." One book was too heavy to carry, so I asked my friend to help me. We carried it together and placed it on a table.

That day, I learnt how to skim for the general idea and scan for specific information. I really enjoyed my time in the library because it was quiet, bright, and full of exciting books about animals and the world.

Questions

1. What reading skills did the teacher teach the pupils?
2. Define skimming as taught in the story.
3. Define scanning as used in the passage.
4. Name two animals the pupil saw in the book.
5. How does reading books help you in school?

Activity 3.4.2

Read the meanings below and fill in the correct word from the box.

skim – scan – library – giraffe – table of contents

Meaning	Word
A place where you go to read or borrow books	_____
To read quickly to get the general idea	_____
To look quickly for a specific word or idea	_____
An animal with a long neck	_____
A page that shows where to find topics in a book	_____

Activity 3.4.3

Pair up with a classmate and take turns asking and answering the following questions about your reading habits.

- What kind of books do you like reading? I like reading picture stories
- How often do you visit the library? _____
- Do you ever skim through a book before reading it fully? _____
- Have you ever scanned a book to find something quickly?
- Why do you enjoy reading?

Scan through the text below.

Answer orally within 5 seconds.

What are the names of the people in the text below?

Every day, Mummy would pack juice and snacks for Mutoni. She would take her juice and her snack at break time. She would share with Keza and Mary.

Grammar

"Enough... to" and "Too...to"

1. Enough to/ Enough.....to:

Examples:

a) The pictures were clear enough to understand.
b) The library was quiet enough to read from.
c) The school had enough books for all pupils to read.

2. Too...to:

Examples:

a) The book was too heavy to carry with one hand.
b) b) The bag was too full to close.

Activity 3.4.5

Choose the correct phrase (enough to or too…to) to complete each sentence.

1. The library was very quiet. It was quiet enough to read well.
2. The box was _____ heavy _____ lift alone.
3. My storybook was interesting _____ keep me reading for hours.
4. The shelf was _____ high _____ reach without a chair.
5. The table was big _____ hold all the books.
6. The bag was _____ small _____ fit all the textbooks

3.5. Sounds and spelling

Sound of	Alternative spellings	Examples
ie	ie	Tie, pie, die, lie.
	igh	Night, light, high, sight.
	y	Cry, try, fly, fry, dry.

Activity 3.5.1

Fill in the blank spaces with the missing letters. Then, read the sentences.

1. I can r__d _a bike very fast.
2. The sk__ is full of stars tonight.
3. She will cr__ if she loses her toy.
4. We saw the moon at n_g_t.

End of unit assessment

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow

"The reading club"

At Kimironko Primary School, pupils in Primary Five started a reading club. Every Friday after lunch, they gathered in the library to read different books. Amina always read animal stories. Jean usually read about space and science. Their friend Musoni sometimes brought comic books from home. Keza never missed a meeting because she loved reading so much.

One day, Amina brought a book that was too difficult for her to understand. It had long words and complicated sentences. She told the club, "This book is too hard for me to read alone." Jean said, "Let's read it together!" Keza added, "We're strong enough to understand it as a team." They took turns reading and explaining the parts they understood. In the end, they learned a lot and had fun.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two adverbs of frequency used in the passage.
2. Write one sentence from the story that contains "too…to".
3. Write one sentence that uses "enough to" / Enough… to.
4. Identify one because-clause from the story.

B. Skills

Reading comprehension

1. When did the reading club meet?
2. What kinds of books did each pupil like?
3. Why was Amina's book difficult?
4. How did her friends help her?

Writing

Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about your reading habits. Include:

- ☐ Two adverbs of frequency
- ☐ One "because" clause
- ☐ One "too…to" or "enough to" phrase

Speaking

In pairs, ask and answer these questions aloud:

- ☐ What do you like reading?
- ☐ How often do you read?
- ☐ Why do you enjoy reading?
- ☐ What is one book you found too difficult or interesting enough to finish?

Listening

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow.

"On Tuesday, Peter went to the library after school. He wanted to read about volcanoes. The book he found had big pictures but few words. It was easy enough to understand. Peter enjoyed the story because it was exciting and short. He promised to return the book next week."

Questions

1. What day did Peter go to the library?
2. What was the topic of the book he read?
3. Why was the book easy to understand?
4. Why did Peter enjoy the book?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to read often?
2. How can you help a classmate who struggles with reading?

Unit 4

ENVIRONMENT

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about Rwanda's environment while promoting environmental responsibility and appreciation of biodiversity.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Recognize key geographical features, flora and fauna of Rwanda.
- Identify the use of prepositions of place and the passive voice in environmental contexts.

Skills

- Describe the Rwandan environment accurately using maps and correct language structures.
- Talk and write about ways to protect and preserve the environment using relevant vocabulary and grammar.

Attitudes and values

- Develop a sense of responsibility and appreciation for protecting and sustaining the environment.
- Show respect for nature and promote positive environmental practices in daily life.

INTRODUCTION

The environment is everything around us such as the air, water, trees, animals, and land. A clean environment helps people, plants, and animals live well. In this unit, you will learn how to talk about the environment, why it is important, and how to protect it. You will also learn new words and speak about things we see in nature.

Introductory activity

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow

Keza explores Rwanda

Keza was excited to learn more about her beautiful country, Rwanda. One sunny morning, her class had a special lesson about the map of Rwanda. The teacher rolled out a big colourful map, and all the pupils gathered around it with curiosity.

They started with the Northern Province, where Keza saw pictures of tall green mountains. The teacher explained that the mountains are perfect for growing tea because of the cool climate. Keza imagined walking through the tea plantations with fresh air all around.

Next, they moved to the Western Province and discovered Lake Kivu. Keza learned that people catch fish from the lake and use its water for cooking, farming, and other needs. She was amazed by the beauty of the lake and its importance to the community.

Then, they looked at the Eastern Province, where Akagera National Park is found. Keza saw drawings of lions, elephants, and giraffes. The teacher said that many tourists come to Rwanda to see these wild animals. Keza dreamed of going on a safari one day.

When the lesson ended, Keza smiled. She felt proud of Rwanda's natural treasures and was eager to learn even more about her homeland.

Questions:

1. What did Keza see in the Northern, Western, and Eastern Provinces?
2. Look at the map of Rwanda. Choose one place you see. What is in that place, and how do people use it?
3. Why do you think Keza was happy about Rwanda's environment? What can we do to protect it?

4.1. Describing the map of Rwanda

Activity 4.1.1

Read the information about Rwanda.

Rwanda is located in the African Great Lakes region. It shares borders with the Democratic Republic of Congo to the west, Uganda to the north, Tanzania to the east, and Burundi to the south. The country is divided into five provinces: Eastern Province, Western Province, Southern Province, Northern Province, and Kigali City. It is good to know about the provinces and neighbouring countries of Rwanda as it helps us understand our country's location and promote peaceful relationships with our neighbours.

Questions:

1. Which countries does Rwanda share borders with?
2. Why is it important for us to know about the provinces and neighboring countries of Rwanda?

Activity 4.1.2

Work in small groups and study the map of Rwanda given below. Answer the questions that follow

Answer the following questions.

1. What are the neighbouring provinces to Southern province?
2. Which country borders Southern province?
3. Which province does not share a border with Kigali?
4. Which three countries border the Eastern Province?
5. Which country lies to the East of Rwanda?

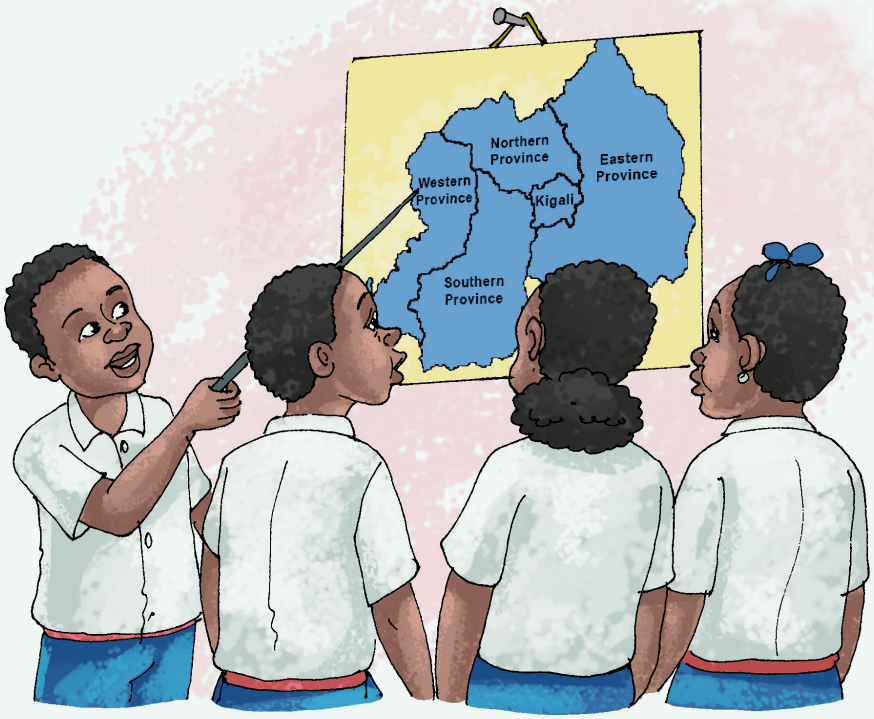
Activity 4.1.3

Observe again the map of Rwanda,and answer the following questions

1. Can you find your province?
2. What are the neighbouring provinces of your province?
3. Are there any countries bordering your province? If so, which country?

Activity 4.1.4

Work in groups to talk about provinces on a map. Each group will be called to look at the map and talk about any province.



For example: This is my province. It is called Kigali. It's bordered by the Eastern, Northern and Southern provinces.

4.2. Describing uses of physical features

Activity 4.2.1

Read the text below and answer the questions that follow:

Rwanda's physical features

Rwanda is a beautiful country with many physical features. These include lakes, rivers, mountains, hills, forests, swamps, and national parks. Each of these features is found in different parts of the country and is used in many helpful ways.

To begin with, lakes and rivers are very useful. They are used for fishing and transport. Fish are caught and eaten because they contain proteins that help our bodies grow strong and healthy. Water is also collected from these water bodies for farming and factory work. In addition, rain is formed when water from lakes and rivers is heated by the sun and changed into vapour.

Next, mountains and hills play an important role. They are often visited by tourists who come to enjoy activities like hiking and mountain biking. Wild animals are protected in the mountains, and clean water and minerals are also found there.

Another important feature is the forest. In Rwanda, forests are protected because they give us fresh air. Trees take in carbon dioxide and give out oxygen, which helps to clean the air. Forests also help in the formation of rain.

All these natural features are very important for our country. They help us in many ways and make our environment beautiful. For this reason, they must be used wisely and protected for the future.

Questions

1. What are some physical features found in Rwanda?
2. Why are fish important for our bodies?
3. How do forests help in cleaning the air?
4. How is rain formed from lakes and rivers?
5. Why should natural resources like forests and rivers be protected?
6. What can you do to help protect Rwanda's physical features?

Activity 4.2.2

Rewrite these words from the passage correctly

1. tainmoun .....
2. anvolcoes .....
3. esforts .....

Activity 4.2.3

Think of one place in Rwanda that you like. It can be a lake, river, mountain, forest, hill, or national park. Write 3 to 5 sentences about that place.

Use this guide to help you:

- My favourite place in Rwanda is _____.
- It is a _____ (lake, mountain, forest...).
- It is found in _____ (name of district or province).
- It is used for _____ (fishing, tourism, hiking...).
- I like it because _____.

Share your sentences with the class.

Grammar

Passive voice

Passive voice is when the action is done to the subject, not by the subject.

Passive voice focuses on what is done, not who does it.

Structure of Passive Voice: be (am / is / are / was / were) + past participle (done, eaten, used, found...)

Examples:

1. Fish are caught and eaten.
2. Water is collected from lakes and rivers. (We focus on the water, not who collects it.)
3. Rain is formed when water is heated.
4. Mountains are visited by tourists. (Tourists visit mountains.)
5. Trees are protected in Rwanda. (We focus on trees.)

Activity 4.2.4

A. Underline the passive voice in each sentence below:

1. Clean water is found in the mountains.
2. Trees are planted to avoid soil.
3. Wild animals are protected in national parks.
4. Water is collected from lakes and rivers.

B. Rewrite the sentences in passive voice (Start with the words in brackets):

1. People catch fish.
   →Fish are caught (by people)
2. Tourists visit the mountains.
   → _____ (the mountains)
3. Farmers use water for farming.
   → _____ (water)
4. The government protects the forests.
   → _____ (the forests)
5. People collect water from rivers.
   → _____ (water)

Activity 4.2.5

Think about your favourite physical feature in Rwanda. This can be a lake, river, mountain, forest, hill, or national park.

Write a short paragraph (5–7 sentences) about this place.

Use these questions to help you write your paragraph:

1. What is the name of the place?
2. What kind of physical feature is it?
3. Where is it found in Rwanda?
4. What can people do there?
5. Why do you like this place?

Example to help you:

My favourite place in Rwanda is Akagera National Park. It is a national park in the Eastern Province. Many wild animals live there. People visit the park to see animals like elephants and lions. I like Akagera National Park because it is beautiful and has many animals to see.

4.3. Describing wildlife in Rwanda

Activity 4.3.1

Look at the pictures below carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Questions.

1. Which of the animals in the pictures are found in your area?
2. Why should we protect wildlife?
3. How do people in your district benefit from wildlife?

Activity 4.3.2

Read the story below carefully and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Wildlife in Rwanda

Rwanda is not only known for its hills but also for its amazing wildlife. In places like Akagera National Park, you can find both large animals like elephants and small ones like antelopes. Visitors often see lions, giraffes, zebras, and hippos as they tour the park.

Rwanda is home to not only wild animals but also to many beautiful birds. Some birds live near lakes, while others fly over forests and mountains. These animals live in protected areas, so people should not hunt them nor destroy their homes.

Wildlife is important for tourism as well as for keeping nature balanced. People from around the world come to Rwanda not only to enjoy the animals but also to learn how to protect them.

Questions:

1. Name two large animals and two small animals mentioned in the passage.
2. Where can people see wild animals in Rwanda?
3. Why is it important to protect wild animals and their homes?
4. What can you do to show you care about wildlife in Rwanda?

Activity 4.3.3

Write more words related to wildlife using the word AMAHORO.

For example,

A -Antelope

M .....

A ....

H .....

O .....

R .....

O .....

Activity 4.3.4

Recite the poem to your seatmate.

Animals roam freely in the forests so wide,
Mountains rise where the gorillas reside.
All creatures, big and small, have a place,
Harmony in nature keeps the perfect space.
Our land is home to eagles that soar,
Rivers flow, giving life forevermore.
Our duty is to protect and care for wildlife, strong and rare!

Grammar

Correlative conjunctions

Correlative conjunctions are pairs of words that join two ideas in a sentence. The parts they connect should be similar.

Common correlative conjunctions

1. both … and: We use this to talk about two things that are true.

   Example: You can find both large animals and small ones.

2. neither … nor: We use this to talk about two things that are not true.

   Example: People should neither hunt them nor destroy their homes.

3. either … or: We use this to talk about two choices.

   Example: You can either visit Akagera National Park or go to Nyungwe Forest to see wild animals.

4. not only … but also: Used to show extra or surprising information.

   Example: Rwanda is home to not only wild animals but also beautiful birds.

Activity 4.3.5

a. Fill in the blank spaces with: both … and / or either … or / neither … nor/ not only … but also

1. Rwanda is home to both wild animals and beautiful birds.
2. Visitors can see _____ lions _____ elephants in Akagera National Park.
3. You should protect nature by _____ littering _____ cutting down trees.
4. On our trip, we may go to _____ Akagera National Park _____ Nyungwe Forest.
5. Tourists visit Rwanda _____for the animals _____ for its beautiful landsc

b. Form correct sentences from the parts given below:

Column A	Column B
Both forests and rivers…	…but also ensure that animals have safe habitats.
Not only do trees provide oxygen,…	…. are important for wildlife.
Either we stop polluting the air, …	…nor water pollution helps the health of the planet.
Neither excessive deforestation…	…or our health will continue to suffer.
We must not only clean our environment,	…but also protect natural habitats for future generations.

Example: Both forests and rivers are important for wildlife.

Activity 4.3.6

Write a short paragraph (6 sentences) about your favourite wild animal.

Use the following guidelines.

- Why is it your favourite animal
- What does it look like? (Describe its colours, size, and other features.)
- How does this animal help nature?
- What dangers does it face, and how can we protect it?
- Why do you think this animal is important?

4.4. Sounds and spelling

Sound of	Alternative spellings	Examples
oa	oa	goat, soap, coat, boat
	oe	toe, hoe, foe

Activity 4.4.1

Read and pronounce these words aloud.

1. roam
2. float
3. board
4. croak
5. doe

End of unit assessment

Read the text: "Saving Lake Rweru" and answer the questions that follow

Last month, pupils from three schools visited Lake Rweru to learn about its environment. The lake is located in the Eastern Province of Rwanda. It is surrounded by hills and green trees. The pupils were guided by park rangers who explained how lakes, trees, and animals are important for everyone.

During the visit, the pupils cleaned the lakeshore. Rubbish was collected, and signs were put up to remind people not to throw waste into the water. Trees were planted by the pupils to protect the soil. Birds and fish are found in the lake, and they need a clean place to live. After the visit, the pupils shared their ideas. One girl said, "Our lake must be protected by all of us." Another pupil added, "Nature is our home. If we destroy it, we destroy ourselves."

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two prepositions of place used in the passage.
2. Identify two passive voice sentences from the passage.
3. Name one physical feature mentioned in the story.

B. Skills: Reading comprehension

1. Why did the pupils visit Lake Rweru?
2. What actions did they take to protect the lake?
3. Why is it important to protect birds and fish in the lake?
4. What lesson did the pupils learn?

Writing: Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about one place in Rwanda's environment you would like to visit. Include:

- ☐ 1 preposition of place (e.g., next to, in, on, under)
- ☐ 1 passive voice sentence
- ☐ 1 reason why the place is important

Speaking: With a partner, talk about a place in Rwanda's environment you have visited or would like to visit. Describe:

- ☐ Where it is
- ☐ What is found there
- ☐ How people can protect it

Listening: Teacher reads aloud:

"In the Southern Province of Rwanda, there is a large forest called Nyungwe. Many wild animals live there. Last year, new trees were planted by pupils. Roads were cleaned, and plastic waste was removed. Nyungwe Forest is now greener and safer for animals. People are encouraged to visit and enjoy its beauty."

Questions

1. Where is Nyungwe Forest located?
2. What animals live there?
3. What was done by the pupils last year?
4. Why should people visit the forest?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to protect the environment?
2. What can pupils do to keep nature clean?

Project activity

"Protect Our Environment Campaign"

Work with a friend. Talk about one environmental problem you see in your area (e.g., deforestation, littering). Make a poster, write a short message (slogan), and create a short play or dialogue to teach others about the problem and how to solve it. You will present your work in a school campaign to help protect the environment.

Unit 5

MEASUREMENTS

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about measurements and comparisons of people, objects, and places while promoting accuracy, fairness, and respect for individual differences.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify vocabulary related to measurements.
- Recognize the correct use of comparative and superlative forms of adjectives.

Skills

- Ask and answer questions about the dimensions of people and places using appropriate question forms.
- Use comparative and superlative adjectives correctly in speaking and writing to describe size and dimensions.

Attitudes and values

- Show interest and curiosity in learning how to describe the world using measurements.
- Demonstrate respect and appreciation for individual and physical differences among people and places

INTRODUCTION

We use measurements every day. We measure length to know how long something is, weight to know how heavy it is, and volume to know how much liquid is in a container. In this unit, you will learn words and sentences we use when measuring things like water, food, cloth, and many others. This will help you talk about size, distance, and quantity in English.

Introductory activity

Read the story below and answer the questions.

One Saturday morning, Aline and her brother Eric went to the market with their mother. Their mother wanted to buy one kilogram of sugar, two litres of milk, and three metres of cloth.

At the market, Aline saw the seller using a scale to measure sugar. Another seller used a bottle to measure the milk. Eric watched as the cloth was measured using a long ruler.

Aline was curious and asked, "Why do we measure things?" Her mother smiled and said, "We measure to know the right amount of what we need."

Questions

1. What did Aline's mother want to buy?
2. How did the sellers measure the things?
3. Why is measuring important?

5.1. Saying and asking about dimensions

Activity 5.1.1

Read the conversation between Keza and Ntwari. Answer the questions that follow.

Learning About Rwanda's Landmarks

Keza: Hi Ntwari! Are you ready to talk about famous places in Rwanda?

Ntwari: Yes, Keza! Let's begin. How long is the Nyabarongo River?

Keza: It is the longest river in Rwanda. It is about 297 kilometers long.

Ntwari: Impressive! And how deep is Lake Kivu?

Keza: It is very deep, around 480 meters deep.

Ntwari: I also wanted to know, how high is Mount Karisimbi?

Keza: It is 4,507 meters high. That makes it the highest mountain in our country!

Ntwari: Interesting. How wide is Nyungwe Forest?

Keza: It is about 1,015 square kilometers wide. That's really wide.

Ntwari: I love learning about our country! We should take care of these places.

Keza: You're right! Protecting our environment is everyone's responsibility.

Questions:

1. How long is the Nyabarongo river?
2. How deep is lake Kivu?
3. How high is mount Karisimbi?
4. How wide is Nyungwe forest?
5. Why mount Karisimbi is called the highest mountain in Rwanda?
6. What can we do to protect the environment?

Activity 5.1.2

Match the word with its meaning:

Word	Meaning
1. Long	a) From bottom to top
2. Deep	b) From one side to another
3. High	c) From beginning to end
4. Wide	d) From the surface downward

Activity 5.1.3

Pair up and role-play your own conversation. Use "How long, how high, how wide, how deep" questions. Use these prompts:

- ☐ Akagera National Park (1,200 km²)
- ☐ Kigali Convention Centre (60 m high)
- ☐ Your school football field (measure or guess)
- ☐ A nearby hill or mountain (guess height)

Example:
* Pupil A: How wide is Akagera National Park?
* Pupil B: It is about 1,200 square kilometers wide.

Grammar — Asking about dimensions

Question	What it asks about	Example
How long.....?	Length	How long is the river? → It is 297 kilometers long.
How deep.....?	Depth	How deep is the lake? → It is 480 meters deep.
How high.....?	Height	How high is the mountain? → It is 4,507 meters high
How wide.....?	Width	How wide is the forest? → It is 1,015 km² wide.

Activity 5.1.4

Choose the right words to complete the following questions (long, deep, high, wide)

1. How _____ is the Akanyaru River?
2. How _____ is Lake Muhazi?
3. How _____ is the Kigali City Tower?
4. How _____ is your school compound?

Activity 5.1.5

With a metre ruler, move around the classroom and measure the items in your classroom. Then write sentences about their measurements. Compare your findings with your partner's.

5.2. Comparing dimensions of places

Activity 5.2.1

Read the conversation between Aline and Kamanzi. Answer the questions that follow

Which Place is Bigger?

Aline: Good morning, Kamanzi!
Kamanzi: Good morning, Aline! How are you today?
Aline: I'm great! I have been learning exciting things for our SRS project.
Kamanzi: Me too! Did you know that Nyungwe Forest is bigger than Gishwati Forest?
Aline: Yes! And guess what? Lake Kivu is deeper than Lake Muhazi.
Kamanzi: That's amazing! I also found out that Mount Karisimbi is the highest mountain in Rwanda.
Aline: And the Kigali City tower is taller than most buildings in Kigali!
Kamanzi: Wow! Rwanda has so many beautiful places. I think Akagera National Park is the largest park in the country.
Aline: I agree! We must all protect these places so they stay beautiful forever.
Kamanzi: Yes, they are part of what makes Rwanda special!

Questions:

1. What is the highest mountain in Rwanda?
2. Which forest is bigger than Gishwati?
3. Why is it important to protect natural places like forests and lakes?
4. How can children help take care of Rwanda's beautiful places?

Activity 5.2.2

Pair up and role-play your own conversation. Compare places around you.

(schools, churches, forests, bridges, markets, hospitals, buildings, ...)

Example:

A: How big is our school compared to the hospital?
B: Our school is bigger than the hospital.

A: Is the market wider than the bridge?
B: Yes, the market is much wider than the bridge.

Grammar

Comparatives and superlatives

1. Comparative adjectives

We use comparatives to compare two things.

- Add -er to short words:
  → big → bigger, tall → taller, deep → deeper
- Use "more" with long words:
  → beautiful → more beautiful

Examples:

- Nyungwe is bigger than Gishwati.
- The view of Lake Kivu is more beautiful than the view of Lake Muhazi.

2. Superlative adjectives

We use superlatives to say one thing is the most of all.

- Add -est to short words:
  → tall → tallest, high → highest
- Use "most" with long words:
  → beautiful → most beautiful

Examples:

- Mount Karisimbi is the highest mountain.
- Akagera is the largest park in Rwanda.
- The view of Lake Kivu is the most beautiful view in Rwanda.

Activity 5.2.3

Complete the sentences using the correct form:

1. Mount Karisimbi is the _____ mountain in Rwanda. (high)
2. Nyungwe Forest is _____ than Gishwati Forest. (big)
3. Lake Kivu is _____ than Lake Muhazi. (deep)
4. Akagera is the _____ park in the country. (large)
5. Kigali is the _____ city in Rwanda. (busy)

Activity 5.2.4

Look at the table and do as instructed below.

Facts about Rwanda

	Place / Feature	Fact / Number
1	Area of Rwanda	26,338 square kilometers
2	Population	13 million people
3	Mount Karisimbi's height	4,507 meters
4	Length of Nyabarongo River	297 kilometers
5	Depth of Lake Kivu	480 meters
6	Area of Nyungwe Forest	1,019 square kilometers
7	National Parks	4 (Akagera, Nyungwe, Volcanoes, Gishwati-Mukura)

1. Choose 3 or 4 facts you find interesting.
2. Write one short paragraph (5–7 sentences) using these facts to describe Rwanda.
3. Try to begin your writing like this:

Rwanda is a small and beautiful country. It has many amazing places and features...

Sample Paragraph (for guidance):

Rwanda is a small and beautiful country. It has a population of about 13 million people. The biggest mountain is Mount Karisimbi. It is 4,507 meters high. The Nyabarongo River is the longest river in the country. I also learned that Lake Kivu is 480 meters deep. I love learning about my country!

5.3. Discussing people's height and size

Activity 5.3.1

Read the story below. Answer the questions that follow

"Our sports day"

It was sports day at school. All the pupils were excited. They wore their sports clothes and gathered on the school field. There were many games, such as running races and high jump competitions.

Rwema, the tallest boy in Primary 5, took part in the high jump. Everyone was eager to see him jump. The teacher asked, "How high can you jump, Rwema?" He ran fast and jumped higher than anyone else. The pupils clapped and cheered for him.

Later, it was time for the running race. Aline and Jane were both good runners. Aline is shorter than Jane, but she runs faster. The whistle blew, and the girls ran quickly. Aline reached the finish line first and won the race.

Although they were different in height the pupils were happy to take part. They laughed, played, and supported each other.

At the end of the day, the teacher said,

"It doesn't matter how high you jump or what size your shoes are. What matters is trying your best, working together, and having fun."

The pupils agreed. They had learned that sports is for everyone, and everyone is special in their own way.

Questions:

1. What did Rwema take part in?
2. Who won the running race?
3. What message did the teacher share at the end of the day?
4. How did the pupils show support for one another?
5. What can we learn from the way Aline and Rwema participated?

Activity 5.3.2

In pairs, ask and answer:

- How tall are you?
- What size is your shirt/shoe?
- Who is the tallest in your family?

Then, introduce your partner to the class.

"This is Kayla. She is 1.42 meters tall and her shoe size is 39." Her mother is the tallest in her family.

Activity 5.3.3

Write a short paragraph about yourself as answers to the questions below:

- How tall are you?
- Are you taller or shorter than your best friend?

Example: I am 1.40 meters tall. I am taller than my friend James.

Activity 5.3.4

In your small groups, use a meter ruler or tape measure to measure each other's height and record the results in a table like this.

Name	Height (metres)

Activity 5.3.5

Talk about the results of the activity 5.3.4 to the class using sentences like;

I am ..... metres tall but my friend is .....meters. I am ..... than my friend.

Activity 5.3.6

Study the table below showing sizes of some districts in Rwanda and answer the questions that follow.

	District	Estimated size in square km
1.	Nyagatare	1, 741
2.	Bugesera	1, 274
3.	Gicumbi	829
4.	Musanze	530
5.	Gasabo	429
6.	Nyarugenge	134
7.	Nyabihu	531

Source: NISR2022

Questions.

1. According to the table, what is the largest district in Rwanda?
2. What is the smallest district in Rwanda according to the table above?
3. Compare Nyarugenge and Nyagatare in terms of size.
4. What is the size of the smallest district shown on the table?
5. Compare Nyagatare to all the districts shown on the table in terms of size.

Activity 5.3.7

Study the table below showing the population distribution of some districts in Rwanda and answer the questions that follow.

S/No.	District	Urban Population	Rural Population	Total
1.	Nyarugenge	315, 899	58, 420	374, 319
2.	Gasabo	714, 069	165,436	879, 505
3.	Kicukiro	487, 200	4,531	491, 731
4.	Rwamagana	180,056	304,897	484, 953
5.	Bugesera	221,227	329,876	551, 103

Source: NISR2022.Source: NISR2022.

Questions.

1. Which district has the largest population?
2. State the district with the smallest population size.
3. What is the urban population of Kicukiro district?
4. Identify the district with the largest rural population size.

5.4. Sounds and spelling

Sound of	Alternative spellings	Examples
oo	oo	moon, book, spoon, school
	ew	blew, chew, drew
	ue	blue, glue, flue, true, tissue, statue,

Activity 5.4.1

Fill in the missing letters and pronounce the word correctly.

1. m__ __n
2. sch__ __ l
3. bl__ __
4. ch __ __

End of unit assessment

Read the story: "Exploring our village" and answer the questions that follow

One sunny morning, pupils from Primary Five went on a study walk to explore the physical features of their village. Their teacher gave them a challenge: measure and compare different places in the village.

First, they measured the school playground. It was 120 metres long and 90 metres wide. Then, they measured the local market, which was 100 metres long and 60 metres wide. "The playground is longer and wider than the market!" shouted Eric.

Later, they saw a new building in the village. It was the tallest they had seen that day. Amina said, "It is the most beautiful building in our area."

The pupils wrote their findings in their notebooks and promised to share them with other classes the next day.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two comparative adjectives used in the passage.
2. Identify one superlative adjective from the passage.
3. Write one sentence from the story that shows a correct question form about dimensions.

B. Skills / Reading comprehension

1. What activity did the pupils do in the village?
2. What were the measurements of the school playground?
3. What place was the tallest?
4. What did the pupils plan to do with their findings?

Writing

Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) comparing two places you know (e.g., your school and a hospital). Include:

- ☐ Two comparative adjectives
- ☐ One superlative adjective
- ☐ One question about dimensions (e.g., "How long is...?")

Speaking

With your partner, ask and answer questions using:

- ☐ How long...?
- ☐ How wide...?
- ☐ Which place is bigger/taller/larger?

Example:

A: How long is your school's football field?

B: It is about 100 metres long.

A: Which is bigger, your school or the market?

B: The school is bigger than the market.

Listening

Listen as the teaccher reads. Answer questions that follow.

"On Monday, pupils measured two roads near their school. The first road was 150 metres long and the second was 200 metres. The second road was longer. Then, they measured a classroom that was 9 metres wide. It was the widest room in the school. They used their findings to draw a map of the school."

Questions

1. What was the length of the first road?
2. Which road was longer?
3. What was the width of the classroom?
4. What did the pupils do with the measurements?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it useful to learn about measurements in real life?
2. How can pupils show responsibility during group work outside the classroom?

TRANSPORT

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about means of transport and travel experiences while promoting safety, responsible travel, and appreciation of transport services.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify different means of transport commonly used in Rwanda.
- Recognise how to use correct sentence structures including imperatives, prepositions, present simple tense, comparatives, and superlatives related to transport.

Skills

- Talk and write about various means of transport using appropriate prepositions and sentence forms.
- Compare different means of transport and describe their uses clearly in both spoken and written forms.

Attitudes and values

- Show interest and respect when discussing transport and travel experiences in Rwanda.
- Develop a positive attitude towards using transport responsibly and valuing its role in society and development.

INTRODUCTION

Transport helps people and goods move from one place to another. People use cars, buses, bicycles, boats, and planes to travel. In this unit, you will learn to name different types of transport, talk about how people travel, and describe your journeys. You will also read,listen and speak about transport in Rwanda and other countries.

Introductory activity

Look at these pictures and answer the questions that follow.

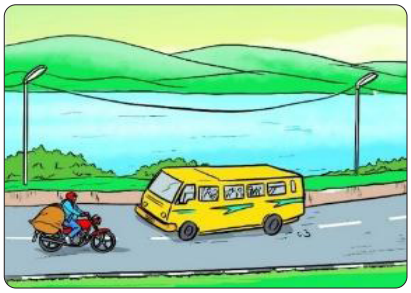
1. Which means of transport do you see in the above pictures?
2. Which means of transport in the pictures do people use in your district?
3. Why do we need transport in our daily life?
4. Which means of transport in the pictures is the fastest? Why do you think so?

6.1. Talking about means of transport

Activity 6.1.1

Read the dialogue below and answer the questions .

How we travel



Amina: Hello, John!

John: Hello, Amina! How are you today?

Amina: I'm fine, thank you. I was thinking about the different ways people travel.

John: That's interesting! People use many means of transport.

Amina: Yes! For example, my father goes to work by car.

John: My mother takes a bus when she goes to town.

Amina: I sometimes ride a bicycle to go to school. It helps me keep fit too!

John: That's nice! I enjoy travelling by motorbike. It is fast and fun.

Amina: Have you ever travelled by boat?

John: Yes! When we visited Lake Kivu during the holidays, we used a boat. It was a great experience!

Amina: Wow! I have never travelled by boat. I would love to try it one day.

John: You should! Travelling in Lake Kivu by boat is exciting.

Amina: Thank you, John. Now I know many means of transport such as cars, buses, bicycles, motorbikes, and boats!

John: That's right! And don't forget airplanes. People use them for long trips.

Amina: Oh yes, airplanes are the fastest way to travel!

Questions

a) How does Amina's father travel to work?
b) How does John's mother travel to town?
c) Why do you think people need many different means of transport?
d) What means of transport do you use? Why?
e) Why is it important to respect public transport and other travelers?

Activity 6.1.2

Put the letters in the correct order to make correct names of transport means.

a) RAC
b) SBU
c) TAOB
d) ECBIYLC
e) RMBOTOKIE
f) ARPILAEN.

Activity 6.1.3

Circle the means of transport hidden in the grid below.

car, plane, lorry, ambulance, helicopter, motorcycle, bicycle, boat, rocket, tractor, ship, taxi, bus, van

Activity 6.1.4

Read the following sentences about what means of transport people use.

People travel by bus
People travel by Motorcycle
People travel by bicycle
People travel by car
People travel by helicopter
People travel by airplane	People travel on foot

Activity 6.1.5

Work in pairs. Take turns speaking. Talk about the means of transport used by many people in your district and explain why.

Examples:

1. Many people in my district travel by bicycle because it is cheap and easy to use.
2. Some people in my district travel by boat because we live near the lake.

Activity 6.1.6

Answer the questions below using "travel by + means of transport":

1. How do you travel to school? _____I travel to school by bus.
2. How do your parents travel to work?
3. How do you travel when you go on a long trip?
4. How do people in your village travel to the market?
5. How does your friends travel to visit their families?

Activity 6.1.7

Write a paragraph of 4 to 5 sentences about the means of transport people in your district travel by. Explain why they use those means of transport.

Examples: Some people in my district travel by bus because it is cheap.

6.2. Comparing means of transport

Activity 6.2.1

Read the following text and answer the questions that follow.

Choosing the Best Way to Travel

Mutoni is a busy businesswoman who sells clothes in the market. She buys her clothes from Tanzania and sells them in Kigali. Over the years, she has used different means of transport to run her business. She has travelled by aeroplane, by bus, and by boat while working in this trade.

She discovered that each mode of transport has its own advantages and disadvantages. Travelling by train is cheap but slow; it took her three hours to travel 200 km and cost 40,000 Rwf. Travelling by boat is even cheaper—it took four hours to cover the same distance but only cost 20,000 Rwf. In contrast, travelling by aeroplane was the fastest but also the most expensive. For the same distance, she spent only 30 minutes but paid 100,000 Rwf.

Mutoni also tried travelling by bus, which took her two hours and 30 minutes and cost 60,000 Rwf. After trying all these options, she now chooses her means of transport based on the time she has, how much money she can spend, and the distance she needs to travel.

Questions

a) How long did it take Mutoni to travel 200km by train?
b) What is the most expensive means of transport mentioned in this story?
c) What things does Mutoni consider before she travels?
d) Why would you travel by boat instead of the bus if you were Mutoni?
e) Why is it important to choose the best means of transport when travelling?

Activity 6.2.2

Fill in the missing letters to make correct words

a) B_ siness
b) Mar _ et
c) Pla _ e
d) _ _ pensive

Activity 6.2.3

Give the opposites of the following words.

1. Shortest ≠ Longest
2. faster ≠
3. less expensive ≠
4. cheap ≠

Activity 6.2.4

Talk about different means of transport.

Use comparing words like cheaper, faster, more expensive, or slowest.

Example:

- A bicycle is slower than a motorbike.
- An aeroplane is the fastest means of transport.

Grammar

Comparatives

Comparative adjectives are words we use to compare two things.

Irregular Comparatives

Some adjectives do not follow the -er rule. We just need to learn them.

Adjective	Comparative	Example Sentence
good	better	An aeroplane is better than a boat for long trips.
bad	worse	Walking in the rain is worse than riding.
many / much	more	A bus carries more people than a motorbicycle.
little	less	A motorcycle uses less fuel than a car.
far	farther	Kigali is farther than Huye from here.

Activity 6.2.5

Fill in the blank spaces with the appropriate comparative form of the words in brackets.

1. A train is usually _____ (slow) than an aeroplane.
2. Is travelling by boat _____ (expensive) than travelling by bus?
3. The aeroplane is _____ (fast) than the train.
4. A bus is _____ (cheap) than a taxi.

Activity 6.2.6

Work in pairs. One says a transport type, and the other compares it to another.

Example:

- Pupil A: "Bus"
- Pupil B: "A bus is slower than an aeroplane."

Activity 6.2.7

Write a short paragraph of 4 to 5 sentences about means of transport you know or have used. Show how they differ in cost and speed. Use comparative adjectives in your sentences.

Examples: A bicycle is cheaper than a car.

A motorcycle is faster than walking.

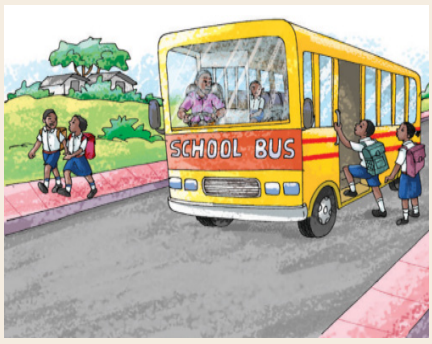
6.3. Describing the uses of means of transport

Activity 6.3.1

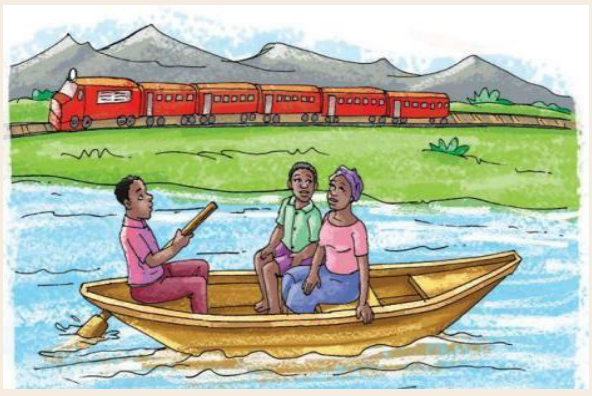
Read the following text and answer the questions that follow.

Uses of means of transport

Different means of transport help us in different ways. Road transport, like buses, help us to reach school. Some pupils go to school bicycles. Some pupils whose school is near travel on foot. Buses also help us to go to the market. Some people travel by car.



Trains help us to go to farther places, like another city. Travelling by trains to farther places is less tiring and less expensive.



Travelling by air is faster but more expensive. Business people and working people travel by aeroplane. It saves them time.

Ships help trade, such as export and import. Ships go from one country to another.

Questions

a) How do different people travel to school?
b) Where do some people go in their cars?
c) Why do business people prefer to travel by aeroplane?
d) Which transport is cheaper: train or aeroplane?
e) How should we behave when using public transport with other people?

Activity 6.3.2

Put the letters in the correct order to make a word.

1. epxotr ⇒ export
2. rimpot ⇒
3. tnsraprot ⇒
4. mratke ⇒

Activity 6.3.3

Fill in the gaps with the appropriate word.

a) Roads help farmers to take goods to the..... (market, school, fishermen)

b) .....transport helps fishermen to fish (road, water, air)

c) .....help us to cross the river and lakes (bus, train, boats)

Activity 6.3.4

In pairs, discuss the uses of different means of transport in daily life.

Talk about how each transport helps people in their activities.

Then, share with the whole class.

Activity 6.3.5

Listen carefully as the teacher reads a paragraph about different means of transport. Answer the questions that follow:

Buses help many people to travel. They take people to school and to the market. They are cheap. Business people travel by aeroplane. Aeroplanes are very fast and save time. This helps them reach meetings on time.

1. Write two ways buses help people.
2. Which transport do business people travel by and why?

Activity 6.3.6

Write a paragraph about the uses of different means of transport.

Use "help__ to" in your paragraph.

Example: Different means of transport help people to do many things. Buses help students to reach school.

6.4. Talking about visits in Rwanda

Activity 6.4.1

Read the following conversation between Aline and Eric. Answer the questions that follow. Places we have visited Aline: Hello, Eric! Have you ever visited any interesting places in Rwanda?

Eric: Yes, I have! I have visited Akagera National Park.

Aline: When did you go there?

Eric: I went there last holiday with my family. We saw elephants, zebras, and giraffes.

Aline: That's great! How was the journey?

Eric: It was long but exciting. We used a tourist van and saw many beautiful hills.

Aline: I have not been to Akagera, but I have visited Lake Kivu.

Eric: What did you do there?

Aline: We went swimming, took a boat ride, and I took many photos.

Eric: That sounds fun! Have you visited Kigali City?

Aline: Yes, I have! I visited the Kigali Convention Centre. It is a modern building where people meet for conferences, shows, and exhibitions.

Eric: I have seen it too. Our school visited it during a science exhibition.

Aline: Rwanda has many nice places to visit!

Eric: Yes! I want to visit Nyungwe forest next time.

Questions

a) What means of transport did Eric use in his visit?

b) What is the Kigali Convention Centre used for?

c) Did Aline and Eric enjoy their visits? Why?

d) If you had a chance to visit a place in Rwanda, where would you go? why?

e) What can people learn from visiting places like Akagera or the Kigali Convention Centre?

f) Why should pupils visit important places in Rwanda?

Activity 6.4.2

Fill in the missing letters to make a word.

1. co__ vent __on
2. v__lca __oes
3. el__ ph __ nt
4. gi__ af__e

Activity 6.4.3

Work in pairs. Act out the dialogue between Eric and Aline.

Grammar

The Present perfect tense

✓ Subject + has or have+ past participle

I, you, we, they	have	+ Past participle
He, she, it	has

Examples:

1. I have visited Akagera National Park.
2. Aline has not been to Akagera, but she has visited Lake Kivu.
3. I have taken many photos.
4. Have you visited Kigali City?
5. I have visited the Kigali Convention Centre.

Activity 6.4.4

Complete the sentences using has or have and the past participle of the verb in brackets.

1. Eric has seen (see) elephants in Akagera.
2. I _____ (visit) Lake Kivu.
3. We _____ (take) many photos.
4. She _____ (go) to Kigali Convention Centre.
5. They _____ (swim) in Lake Kivu.

Activity 6.4.5

Write a short paragraph about places you have visited in Rwanda. Use some sentences in the present perfect tense. Then share your paragraph with the class.

Example:

I have visited Akagera National Park. I have seen many animals. I have enjoyed my visit.

6.5. Sounds and spelling

Sound of	spelling	Examples
or	or	Horn, torn, form, storm, fork
	aw	Saw, jaw, paw, draw, straw, yawn
	au	Haul, fault, sauce, haunt, launch

Activity 6.5.1

Repeat after the teacher reading the words below.

1. august , 2. automatic , 3. launch , 4. sauce

End of unit assessment

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow

"The trip to Huye"

Last Saturday, Primary Five pupils went on a study trip to Huye. They left school at 8 a.m. in a big bus. The bus was slower than a car but large enough to carry everyone comfortably. Along the way, they saw many vehicles: bicycles, cars, and lorries.

On the road, they passed trucks carrying food. "That lorry is the heaviest I've seen!" said John. The pupils enjoyed the journey. The teacher explained that cars are faster than bicycles, but bicycles are better for short trips. At noon, they reached Huye and visited the Ethnographic Museum. After the visit, they returned home. The pupils said the trip was exciting and educational.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two comparative adjectives used in the passage.
2. Identify one superlative adjective.
3. Write one preposition of time and one preposition of place from the story.

B. Skills

Reading comprehension

1. Where did the pupils go?
2. What time did they leave school?
3. Why was the bus better for the trip?
4. What did the teacher explain about bicycles?

Writing

Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about a journey you have taken. Include:

- ☐ At least one sentence in the past tense
- ☐ Two comparative adjectives
- ☐ One preposition of time or place

Speaking / In pairs, take turns describing different means of transport. Use comparisons, e.g.:

- ☐ A car is faster than a bicycle.
- ☐ A plane is the fastest way to travel.
- ☐ A boat moves on water, but a lorry moves on roads.

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow.

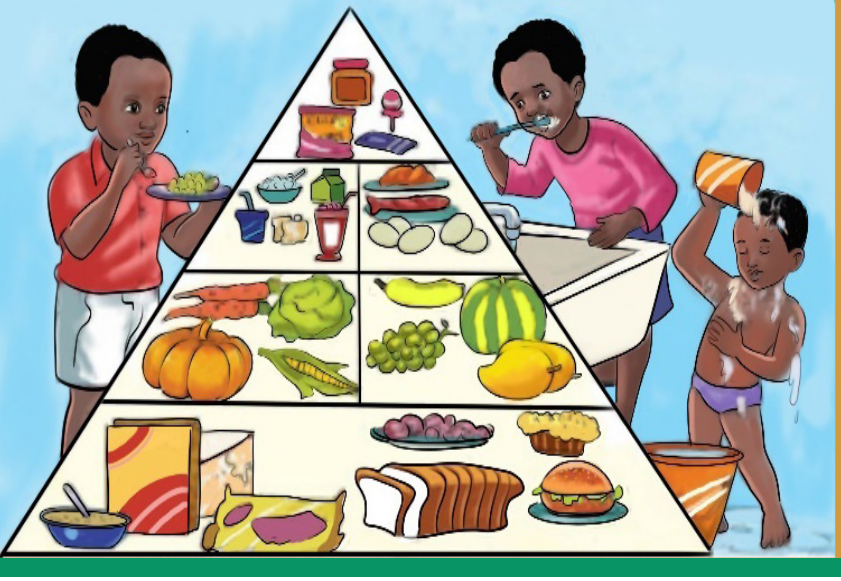
"On Friday, pupils visited a transport exhibition. They saw old bicycles and new motorbikes. One bus was larger than the others. It carried 60 passengers. The teacher explained how transport has changed over time. After the tour, the pupils wrote about what they saw and learned."

Questions

1. When did the pupils visit the exhibition?
2. What did they see there?
3. Which bus was the largest?
4. What did they do after the tour?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to learn about transport?
2. How can we use transport safely and responsibly?



Unit 7

HYGIENE AND HEALTH

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about hygiene, diet, illness, and health practices while promoting healthy living, self-care, and community responsibility.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- List different types of food, food groups, and the importance of a balanced diet.
- Recognise the use of grammatical structures such as countable and uncountable nouns, quantifiers, modal verbs, and the first conditional related to hygiene and health..

Skills

- Talk and write about hygiene, health, and diet using appropriate vocabulary and correct grammar structures.
- Use modal verbs and the first conditional effectively to give advice and talk about health-related possibilities and consequences.

Attitudes and values

- Strive for maintaining good hygiene and healthy eating habits.
- Appreciate the importance of hygiene and a balanced diet for personal and community health.

INTRODUCTION

Keeping our bodies and surroundings clean helps us stay healthy and strong. When we wash our hands, brush our teeth, bathe, and eat clean food, we protect ourselves from sickness. In this unit, you will learn how to take care of your body, keep your classroom clean, and avoid diseases. Good hygiene means good health!

Introductory activity

a) Name the food you see on the picture above?
b) What are the children in the pictures doing?
c) What can people do to improve their health and stay strong?

7.1. Describing diet

Activity 7.1.1

Read the following dialogue between Ange and John and then answer the questions that follow:

Dialogue: A balanced diet

Ange: Hi John! What is a diet?

John: It is the food and drinks we take every day.

Ange: Why do we need different foods?

John: To get energy, grow, and stay healthy.

Ange: How much rice do you eat?

John: A plate. Rice gives us energy. It is a carbohydrate.

Ange: I eat beans too. They help us grow. They are proteins.

John: I eat vegetables. They give us vitamins to stay healthy.

Ange: How much oil do you use?

John: Just a little. Oil is fat. We need a small amount.

Ange: So, we must eat all these types?

John: Yes! That is a balanced diet!

Questions

1. What is a diet?
2. Why do we eat food?
3. How many meals should one eat a day?
4. What is a good diet made of?
5. Why is it bad to eat the same meal every day?

Activity 7.1.2

Fill in the missing letters to complete the words.

a) en _ _ _gy

b) h _ _ _ thy

c) w _ _ _ r

Activity 7.1.3

Match each word with its correct meaning.

Word	Meaning
1. energy	A. The food and drinks people consume
2. diet	B. To become bigger or taller
3. meal	C. Strength to do work or move
4. grow	D. Food eaten at a certain time
5. healthy	E. Feeling well and not sick

Activity 7.1.4

Work in pairs. Take turns asking and answering about what you eat in the morning, at lunch, and in the evening.

Examples:

Pupil A: What do you eat in the morning?

Pupil B: I eat a piece of bread and an egg. What about you?

Pupil A: I eat porridge and a banana.

Grammar

Use of "How much……"

We use "How much" to ask about the amount of uncountable items (things we cannot count one by one, like milk, sugar, water, juice, rice, or flour.)

Examples:

a) How much water do you need per day? I need a lot of water per day

b) How much juice do you drink at lunch? I drink a little juice at lunch

c) How much milk do you take in the morning? I take some milk with my breakfast

Activity 7.1.5

Make a list of the things you usually eat. Read your list to the class.

Example:

- I eat lots of meat.
- I eat some vegetables.

7.2. Describing food groups and a balanced diet

Activity 7.2.1

Read the following text about a balanced diet, and answer the questions that follow.

Eating a balanced diet

Everyone needs food to live, grow, and stay healthy. Food is divided into four main groups: carbohydrates, proteins, fats, and vitamins. Each food group plays a special role in the body. If you eat food from only one group, your body will not grow or work the way it should. That is why we must eat a balanced diet.

A balanced diet means eating meals that include all the food groups. This helps your body get everything it needs to stay strong, grow well, and fight sickness.

- Carbohydrates give us energy to walk, run, play, and study. We get carbohydrates from foods like bread, rice, cassava, maize, grains, and sugar.
- Proteins are body-building foods. They help us grow and repair our body parts. Proteins can be found in meat, eggs, fish, beans, and milk.
- Fats help to keep our bodies warm and give extra energy. We get fats from foods like avocados, nuts, full-fat milk, and fatty meat.
- Vitamins keep us healthy and strong. They help us fight disease, heal wounds, build bones, and see better. Vitamins are found in fruits and vegetables like oranges, mangoes, spinach, and carrots.
- Water is also very important. It helps control body temperature, carry nutrients, and remove waste from the body. We get water by drinking it, eating soup, or eating juicy fruits like watermelon.

To be strong, active, and healthy, we must eat a variety of foods and drink enough clean water every day. That is what we call eating a balanced diet.

Questions:

1. What are the four main food groups?
2. What is a balanced diet?
3. Do you remember the food types you ate today? Name them in their groups.
4. Why is it important to eat different types of food every day?
5. How can you encourage your family or friends to eat a balanced diet?

Activity 7.2.2

Play the game 'Food i eat.' In groups of three, find healthy food items filling in the missing letters. Write the food group that each food belongs to in the space beside the food.

Food items	Food group
B_A N_A N_A	Vitamins
M_LK
P_N_ _ _PL_
CH_ _S_
BR_ _D
F_SH
CH_CK_N
T_M_T_
C_BB_G_

Activity 7.2.3

In pairs, act out the dialogue between Mary and Ishimwe.

One of you will play as Mary and the other will play as Ishimwe.

Dialogue: Talking about a balanced diet

Mary: Hi Ishimwe! What do you eat?

Ishimwe: Hi Mary! I eat beans, rice, and drink a little milk. Rice gives me energy.

Mary: I eat potatoes, use a little oil, and eat some bananas.

Ishimwe: I eat oranges and vegetables too. But I don't eat many sugary snacks.

Mary: Me too! I drink a lot of water to stay healthy.

Ishimwe: That's good! Eating different foods keeps us strong.

Mary: Yes! A balanced diet is very important.

Grammar

✓ COUNTABLE AND UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

1. Countable nouns / Countable nouns are nouns for items we can count.

Examples:

a) one apple, two apples,

b) a banana, many bananas.

2. Uncountable nouns / Uncountable nouns are nouns for items we cannot count

Examples: milk, water, rice, sugar, bread

✓ QUANTIFIERS

Quantifiers are words we use to show how much or how many.

A. For countable nouns, we use:

- a few (small number): Mary ate a few oranges
- many (large number): Ishimwe ate many apples
- some (unspecified small number): They ate some eggs
- any (in questions or negatives): She did not eat any potatoes yesterday.

B. For uncountable nouns, we use:

- a little: Example: She put a little sugar in her tea.
- much: Example: There isn't much water in the bottle.

Note: Some and any are also used with uncountable nouns with the following meaning:

- Some (small amount): Example: I have put some sugar in my tea.
- Any (in questions or negatives): Example: Do you have any rice? I don't have any rice.

C. For both countable and uncountable nouns:

A lot of:

Examples:

1. I have a* lot of mangoes in my bag.

2. She drinks a lot of milk every day.

Activity 7.2.4

Fill in the blank spaces with a few, many, some, or any to complete the sentences about healthy eating.

1. ____ people eat fruits and vegetables to stay healthy.
2. I don't have ____ biscuits in my lunchbox.
3. I eat ____ bananas and oranges after lunch.
4. My mother cooked rice with ____ vegetables.
5. Do you have ____ milk for tea?

Activity 7.2.5

Write 5 sentences about the foods you eat to stay healthy.

Use quantifiers like some, little, a few, much, many, a little. Present your sentences to the class.

Examples:

1. I eat a* few eggs and a* little milk to stay strong.
2. I eat some beans and drink a* little milk.
3. I drink a* lot of water every day.

7.3. Talking about diet and health

Activity 7.3.1

Read the following dialogue and answer the questions that follow.

Dialogue: talking about a healthy diet

Samantha: Ethan, do you eat a healthy diet?

Ethan: What is a healthy diet?

Samantha: It means eating different foods like carbohydrates, proteins, vitamins, fats, and drinking water.

Ethan: I eat rice and beans. I think those are enough.

Samantha: No, Ethan. If you eat only two types, your body won't grow well.

Ethan: Why are the others important?

Samantha: If you eat vitamins, fats, and drink water, you will stay strong and healthy.

Ethan: Okay! If I want to grow and live long, I must eat a healthy diet.

Samantha: Yes! If we eat all food groups, we will stay healthy!

Questions

1. What is a healthy diet?
2. Name three important nutrients mentioned in the dialogue.
3. Why does Ethan eat only carbohydrates and proteins?
4. What should Ethan do to have a healthy diet?

Activity 7.3.2

1. Work with a friend. Act out the talk between Samantha and Ethan.
2. After that, talk about your own food. Ask each other:
   - Do you eat healthy food?
   - What healthy foods do you eat?
   - What food do you need to eat more?

Activity 7.3.3

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct words from the box.

proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins, energy, muscles

1. Body-building foods help us build strong _____.
2. Rice and bread give us _____ to play and study.
3. Fruits and vegetables provide us with _____ to protect us from sickness.
4. Meat and eggs are rich in _____.
5. We need _____ to stay active throughout the day.

Grammar

The first conditional

The First Conditional is used to talk about real and possible situations in the future.

⇒ If +Subject + present simple, subject + will + verb.

Examples:

1. If I eat healthy food, I will feel strong.
2. If I don't eat breakfast, I will feel tired.
3. What will happen if I eat too much sugar?

Activity 7.3.4

Complete the following sentences using the appropriate form of the verbs in brackets

1. If I eat fruits and vegetables, I _____ (feel) healthy.
2. If I don't drink enough water, I _____ (feel) tired.
3. What will happen if I _____ (eat) too much junk food?
4. If I _____ not/exercise) regularly, I _____ (not/feel) strong.
5. Will I _____ (get) sick if I _____ (not/eat) balanced diets?

Activity 7.3.5

Write 3–5 sentences using "If… will…" to explain what happens when someone eats healthy or unhealthy food.
Example: If I eat fruits and vegetables, I will stay healthy.

7.4. Talking about hygiene

Activity 7.4.1

Read the following poem and answer the questions that follow.

Poem: You should stay clean!

You should wash your hands before you eat,
With soap and water—oh so neat!

Activity 7.5.1

Read the conversation between a doctor and a patient called Mugenzi and answer the questions that follow:

Mugenzi: Good morning, doctor.

Doctor: Good morning, Mugenzi! What's wrong?

Mugenzi: My stomach hurts. I couldn't sleep last night.

Doctor: I'm sorry. Do you feel like vomiting?

Mugenzi: Yes, and I have diarrhoea too.

Doctor: Did you eat anything bad?

Mugenzi: No, just normal food.

Doctor: We will check. For now, I'll give you some medicine.

Mugenzi: Thank you, doctor.

Doctor: If you eat dirty food, you can get sick.

Mugenzi: I will be careful.

Doctor: If you wash your hands and eat clean food, you will stay healthy.

Mugenzi: I will do that.

Doctor: Good! If you drink clean water, you won't get stomach problems.

Mugenzi: Thank you, doctor!

Questions

a) What symptoms did Mugenzi mention to the doctor?

b) What advice did the doctor give to avoid getting sick again?

c) Why shouldn't Mugenzi eat from dirty places?

d) What would you tell someone who feels unwell?

Activity 7.5.2

In pairs, act out the dialogue between a doctor and Mugenzi.

One of you will play the doctor and the other will play Mugenzi.

Activity 7.5.3

With a partner, create a short dialogue between a doctor and a patient.

Consider a patient who is suffering from a cough, diarrhoea, or malaria.

In your dialogue, the doctor should give advice using "should."

End of unit assessment

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow

"A healthy day at school"

Every Tuesday, pupils at Nyundo Primary School have a health talk. This week, the topic was hygiene. The teacher asked, "How often do you wash your hands?" Jean answered, "I always wash them before eating." Amina said, "I sometimes forget, but I try to do it regularly."

Later, they talked about food. The pupils learned that eating vegetables, fruits, and clean water is very important. Their teacher said, "A good diet helps your body fight illness. Dirty hands can cause diseases." After break, the pupils cleaned their classroom and toilets. They were happy to keep their school clean. One pupil said, "We must be clean to stay healthy!"

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Identify two adverbs of frequency from the story.
2. Write one cause-effect sentence from the passage (e.g., "...because..." or "... helps...").
3. Identify one connector that shows time or reason.

B. Skills : reading comprehension

1. What was the health talk about?
2. What do pupils do before eating?
3. What does a good diet help with?
4. What did the pupils clean after the break?

Writing: Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about how you stay healthy. Include:

- ☐ Two adverbs of frequency
- ☐ One cause-effect structure (e.g., "because", "helps to...")
- ☐ One activity related to diet or hygiene

Speaking: With your partner, take turns saying:

- ☐ What you eat for breakfast/lunch
- ☐ How often you wash hands
- ☐ What you do to stay clean and healthy

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow.

"At Kibuye School, pupils start their day by washing hands. They drink clean water and eat fruits at break time. Their teacher says, 'Clean food and hands keep sickness away.' After class, pupils sweep the compound and clean the toilets. Everyone works together to stay healthy."

1. What do pupils do at the start of the day?
2. What do they eat during break?
3. What does the teacher say about clean food?
4. What do the pupils do after class?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to keep our bodies and environment clean?
2. How can learners help others practice good hygiene?

Project Activity

"Healthy living campaign"

Work in your groups to prepare a health awareness campaign for your school. Choose one topic, such as Healthy diet (eating balanced meals, knowing food groups), Good hygiene (washing hands, brushing teeth) or how to prevent illness (drinking clean water, avoiding too much sugar)

Talk to your parents or community elders about healthy habits. Ask them what they do to stay healthy. Then, make posters, write short poems and prepare short plays or songs. You will present your work during a "Health Awareness Day" at school.

Unit 8

CRAFTS IN RWANDA

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about traditional and modern crafts in Rwanda while promoting creativity, cultural pride, and preservation of cultural heritage.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Recognise the differences between traditional and modern crafts in Rwanda, including the materials and tools used.
- Identify the use of language structures such as the present simple passive and expressions like "used to," "used for," and "made by."

Skills

- Describe traditional and modern crafts and their making processes using the present simple passive and other target expressions.
- Use appropriate grammar and vocabulary to talk or write about how crafts were made in the past and how they are made today.

Attitudes and values

- Show respect and appreciation for Rwanda's cultural heritage and traditional craftsmanship.
- Develop pride in local crafts and encourage preserving and promoting them as part of Rwanda's identity.

INTRODUCTION

Rwanda is known for its beautiful crafts made by hand. People in different parts of the country make baskets, pots, mats, and beads using local materials like grass, clay, and wood. These crafts are used at home, in markets, and even sold to visitors. In this unit, you will learn to talk about Rwandan crafts, how they are made, and why they are important to our culture.

Introductory activity

Look at these pictures and answer the questions below:

1. What do you see in the picture?
2. What are they made of?
3. What are they used for?

8.1. Describing what people made in the past

Activity 8.1.1

Read the following text and answer the questions that follow.

Traditional crafts in Rwanda

Long ago, people in Rwanda used to make many things by hand.

They used to make tools, home items, and decorations. One special art was Imigongo. Women used to make it with cow dung. They used to paint it with red, black, and white colours. The designs used to be circles and lines. People also used to make baskets, bowls, and mats from papyrus. These were colourful and used to be given as gifts.

Another craft was pottery. People used to make pots and cups from clay for cooking and storing water. They used to use wood to make drums, knife handles, and statues. Some even used to make water bottles from dried gourds. Women used to make jewellery with beads and seeds. They used to wear it on special days.

All these crafts used to show the skills and culture of Rwandan people.

Questions

1. Which objects did traditional Rwandans use to make?
2. What is "Imigongo?
3. What materials were used to make jewellery?
4. What was the importance of crafts in Rwanda?

Activity 8.1.2

Unscramble the letters to form the correct word from the text.

1. wejeelleyr _____
2. rpotey _____
3. yspapur _____

Activity 8.1.3

Ask your parents, guardians, or community members about the items people used to make in traditional Rwanda.

Present your findings to your class. In your presentation, use sentences like:

1. People in the community told me that long ago, they used to make baskets. They used things like papyrus and sisal to make them.
2. My elder sister told me that people in Rwanda used to make Imigongo wall decorations. They made them using cow dung and natural colours like red, black, and white.

Grammar

We use "used to" to talk about actions that happened in the past but are no longer happening.

Examples:

1. People used to make baskets by hand.
2. Women used to paint "Imigongo" on walls.
3. Did women use to decorate houses with ": Imigongo"?

Activity 8.1.4

Complete each sentence using the correct form of used to + verb.

1. People _____ (make) baskets from papyrus.
2. Women _____ (paint) "Imigongo" using cow dung.
3. My grandmother _____ (cook) in a clay pot.
4. People _____ (make) jewellery from seeds.
5. Children _____ (play) traditional games.

Activity 8.1.5

Write a short paragraph (3-5 sentences) about what people used to do in the past.

Example:

In the past, people used to make jewellery using beads and seeds. People used to make pots using clay. People also used to make drums using wood and animal skins and hides.

8.2. Describing what people used tools for

Activity 8.2.1

Read the following dialogue between Mutoni and Kagabo and answer the questions that follow.

What were they used for?

Mutoni: Hello, Kagabo! Do you know what people in traditional Rwanda used different tools for?

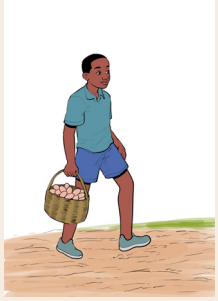
Kagabo: A little. What was a hoe used for?

Mutoni: It was used for digging and farming.

Kagabo: What was a knife used for?

Mutoni: It was used for peeling food and carving wood.

Kagabo: What was a gourd used for?



Mutoni: It was used for keeping milk and water.

Kagabo: What was a pot used for?

Mutoni: It was used for cooking and storing food.

Kagabo: What were baskets used for?

Mutoni: They were used for carrying things like eggs and beans.

Kagabo: What were mats used for?

Mutoni: Mats were used for sitting and decoration.

Kagabo: What was Imigongo used for?

Mutoni: It was used for decorating house walls.

Kagabo: Wow! People were so clever!

Mutoni: Yes! These tools were very useful!

Questions

1. What was a hoe used for in traditional Rwanda?
2. What was a gourd used for?
3. List three things people used baskets for.
4. Why do you think traditional tools were important in the past?
5. What can we learn from how people used tools in traditional Rwanda?

Activity 8.2.2

Match the tool to its correct use.

Tool	Use
1. hoe	a) Used for decorating the walls of houses
2. knife	B) Used for carrying things
3. pot	c) Used for peeling potatoes and carving wood
4. basket	d) Used for digging and cultivating the land
5. imigongo	e) Used for storing and keeping food

Activity 8.2.3

With a partner, ask and answer what different traditional tools were used for Partner A: What did they use hoes for?

Partner B: They used hoes for digging.

Continue with the other tools.

Grammar

"Used for + verb + ing" is used to talk about uses of something.

Examples:

1. People used a gourd for keeping milk and water.
2. They used a knife for peeling potatoes.

Activity 8.2.4

Choose the correct verb form to complete each sentence.

Only one verb form is correct.

1. People used a hoe for..... (dig, digs, digging) the land.
2. They used a knife for..... (cut, cuts, cutting) vegetables.
3. People used a basket for ..... (carry, carries, carrying) food.
4. People used a pot for ..... (boil, boiled, boiling) water.

8.3. Describing modern handcrafts

Activity 8.3.1

Read the following text and answer the questions.

Modern and traditional handcrafts

People can make many beautiful things with their hands. These are called handicrafts.

Long ago, people made traditional handicrafts using clay, wood, grass, and animal skins. They made things like pots, mats, wooden spoons, and baskets. Today, people still make handicrafts, but some are modern. They use plastic, metal, beads, glass, and coloured thread. People make jewellery, handbags, and paper decorations. Some use small tools or machines.

Traditional handicrafts are used at home or on farms. Modern ones are sold in shops. People buy them to decorate homes or wear them.

Both types are important. They show our culture and help people earn money.

Questions

a) What are handcrafts?
b) What materials did people use in the past to make traditional handcrafts?
c) How are traditional handcrafts different from modern handcrafts? (Give one example)
d) Why is it important to appreciate and preserve traditional handcrafts in our culture?
e) How can handcrafts help people in our community?

Activity 8.3.2

Work with your partner. Use each of words below to form a simple and correct sentence.

Handicrafts; Clay; Jewellery; Recycled; Tools

Example Sentences:

1. Handicrafts – People make beautiful handicrafts to sell at the market.
2. Clay – We used clay to make a small pot in class.
3. Jewellery – My aunt wears colourful jewellery made from beads.
4. Recycled – This bag is made from recycled paper.
5. Tools – The carpenter uses tools to make chairs and tables.

Activity 8.3.3

Take turns asking and answering about what people make using modern materials.

Examples:

Pupil A: What do people make from leather?
Pupil B: People make handbags from leather.

Activity 8.3.4

Listen carefully as the teacher reads each sentence.

Write True if the statement is correct, or False if it is incorrect.

1. People still make handicrafts today.
2. All handcrafts today are traditional.
3. People use metal and glass to make modern handcrafts.
4. Jewellery is made from clay.
5. Handbags can be made from leather and fabric.
6. People use firewood to make modern handcrafts.

Activity 8.3.5

Rearrange these words to make correct sentences

1. (people / baskets / make / beautiful) ⇒ People make beautiful baskets.
2. (makes / a drum / the boy / wood / from)
3. (necklaces / women / from / make / beads)
4. (makes / decorations / she / paper / with)
5. (make / children / art / from / clay)

8.4. Describing how to make craft objects

Activity 8.4.1

The following are instructions on how to make a pot.

Read them carefully and answer the questions that follow.

How to make a pot

First of all, dry clay soil is mixed with wood dust to make it firm and compact. Then the soil is mixed with water to produce hard and paste-like material.

Afterwards, this material is moulded into the shape and size of the pot desired.

Then the final touches are completed by smoothening and drawing suitable patterns on the surface of the pot.

The pot is then left to dry before being baked. It is baked.

This is a finished pot.

Questions

1. What things do you need to make a pot?
2. What is the first thing you should do when making a pot?
3. Find the name of a person who makes pots.
4. What is the most important step in making a pot? Explain your answer.

Activity 8.4.2

Match words in column A to their opposites in column B.

Column A	Column B
1. dry	A. Started
2. hard	B. loose
3. firm	C. rough
4. finished	D. soft
5. smooth	E. wet

Activity 8.4.3

Rearrange the following sentences to show the correct step-by-step process for making 'Imigongo' paintings. Present to the class .

1. The main colours are red, black, and white.
2. People use cow dung to make "Imigongo" paintings.
3. Now, it is also painted with colours like grey, yellow, and others.
4. The dung is spread on wooden boards in round and shaped patterns.
5. The dung is left to become hard.
6. After that, it is painted with colours from natural things.

Activity 8.4.4

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct form of the verb in brackets.

1. Dry clay soil is mixed_ with wood dust to make it firm. (mix)
2. Water is_____ to the soil to make a paste-like material. (add)
3. The soft clay is _____ into the shape of a pot. (mould)
4. Patterns are _____ on the surface to decorate the pot. (draw)
5. The pot is _____ in the sun before it is baked. (leave)

Grammar

Active voice and passive voice

We use active voice and passive voice to show how actions happen.

1. Active Voice

In the active voice, the subject (doer) comes before the action in the sentence.

Example:

A potter makes pots.

Subject verb object

2. Passive Voice

In the passive voice, the object comes before the subject of the sentence. In passive voice, the word "by" is used to introduce the doer.

Examples:

a) Active voice: The potter shapes the clay carefully.

Passive voice: The clay is shaped carefully by the potter.

b) Active voice: The artist painted the traditional patterns.

Passive voice: The traditional patterns were painted by the artist.

c) Active voice: The woman wove the basket tightly.

Passive voice: The basket was woven tightly by the woman.

Activity 8.4.5

Change the following sentences from active to passive voice.

1. Someone painted the walls yesterday.
2. The workers build the houses every year.
3. The artist will design the cover.
4. They harvested the maize last week.
5. The tailor made the wedding dress.

8.5. Sounds and spelling

Sound	Spelling	Examples
oi	oi	oil, foil, coil, soil, boil
	oy	toy, boy, enjoy, employ

Activity 8.5.1

Listen to the teacher sound the highlighted words in the following sentences.

Repeat after the teacher.

1. I drink soy milk every morning.
2. Loud noises annoy me when I'm trying to study.
3. The storm will destroy the crops if it gets worse.
4. The hunter used a decoy to attract the ducks.

End of unit assessment

Read the text below and answer the questions that follow

"Learning to make baskets"

In Nyanza, pupils in Primary Five visited a women's craft cooperative. There, they learned how to make baskets from local materials. The women used dried grass, sisal, and colourful threads. They showed the pupils how to twist the materials tightly to make strong baskets.

Amina asked, "What tools do you use?" One woman replied, "We use needles and scissors." Jean noticed that some baskets had beautiful designs. The teacher explained, "Rwandan baskets are used for decoration and for carrying things."

At the end of the visit, the pupils made small baskets as a class project. They were proud of their work and promised to teach others what they had learned.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Write two materials and two tools mentioned in the story.
2. What materials and tools are used to make Rwandan traditional baskets?

B. Skills:Reading comprehension

1. Where did the pupils go?
2. What materials were used to make baskets?
3. What did the pupils do at the end of the visit?
4. Why were they proud?"

Writing: Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about a craft you know. Include:

- ☐ One sentence in the present simple tense
- ☐ Two items used (materials or tools)
- ☐ One preposition of place
- ☐ One connector (e.g., and, but, because, then)

Speaking: With your partner, describe a craft you have seen or made. Take turns describing:

* What it is, * What materials/tools are used, * Why people make it

Listening

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow.

"At a craft centre in Kigali, children saw how clay pots are made. Clay is shaped by hand and dried in the sun. The teacher said, 'People use pots to cook or store food.' Later, the children made small pots using wet clay and sticks. Everyone enjoyed the activity."

Questions

1. What kind of craft did the children learn about?
2. How is clay shaped?
3. What are clay pots used for?
4. What did the children use to make their own pots?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to learn about Rwandan crafts?
2. How can pupils support and respect local craftsmen and women?

Unit 9

AGRICULTURE IN RWANDA

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about traditional and modern agriculture in Rwanda while promoting respect for farmers, responsible use of resources, and appreciation of agricultural innovation.

Learning objectives

By the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify traditional and modern agricultural practices used in Rwanda.
- Recognize the main agricultural exports of Rwanda and their importance to the economy.

Skills

- Describe agricultural activities using the past simple, present simple, and future tenses appropriately.
- Compare and contrast traditional and modern farming methods in oral and written forms.

Attitudes and values

- Appreciate the importance of agriculture in Rwanda's development.
- Show respect for both traditional practices and modern innovations in farming.

INTRODUCTION

In Rwanda, many people grow crops and keep animals. Long ago, farmers used simple tools like hoes and worked with their hands. Today, some farmers use machines like tractors and water pumps to make farming easier and faster. In this unit, you will learn to talk about how farming is done in Rwanda, both in the past and today, and how it helps people get food and money.

Introductory activity

Look at the pictures below. They show different farming activities and tools used in Rwanda. After observing the pictures, answer the questions that follow.

1. What tools or machines can you see?
2. What animals are shown in the pictures?
3. What kind of work are the people doing in the pictures?
4. Which pictures show traditional farming and which ones show modern farming?
5. What crops or products do Rwandan farmers sell to other countries?

9.1. Describing farming tools in the past

Activity 9.1.1

Read the dialogue between Akarabo and Muneza. Answer the question that follow.

Traditional farming tools in the past

Akarabo: Good morning, Muneza!
Muneza: Good morning, Akarabo!

Akarabo: Do you know what people used in the past to harvest food crops like maize and sorghum?
Muneza: Yes, they used a sickle. It was very useful for cutting crops and also grass for animals.

Sickle

Muneza: Do you know what people used to dig small lines in the soil for planting seeds?
Akarabo: They used a hoe. It helped them prepare the soil for planting.

Hoe

Akarabo: What tool did people use to break hard ground?
Muneza: They used a pickaxe. It was strong and good for digging hard soil.

Pickaxe

Akarabo: What tool did people use to cut trees or get wood?
Muneza: They used an axe. It was sharp and strong, perfect for cutting trees.

Axe

Muneza: What did people use to carry food after harvesting?
Akarabo: They used baskets. Baskets helped carry beans, maize, and vegetables.

Machete

Akarabo: Do you know what tool people used to cut bushes and tall grass?
Muneza: Yes, they used a machete. It was great for cutting big plants and tall grass.

Basket

Muneza: Old farming tools were really helpful, weren't they?
Akarabo: Yes, they were! They helped farmers do a lot of work using just their hands.

a) What tools did people use to harvest cereal crops?
b) What tool helped people break hard ground?
c) Why did farmers use different tools for different jobs?
d) Which tool would you use to cut ropes and small plants? Why?
e) Why is it good to learn about traditional farming?

Activity 9.1.2

Find the hidden tools in the puzzle below.

N	A	B	O	D	Y	A	S	T	H
M	X	M	P	S	R	H	O	O	O
O	E	A	P	I	C	K	A	X	E
P	G	C	C	C	E	T	C	A	T
B	S	H	K	K	N	I	F	E	A
I	R	E	A	L	E	N	K	N	S
U	I	T	X	E	S	S	H	I	N
L	C	E	B	U	A	M	S	F	A
I	R	A	E	B	T	E	D	E	T

Activity 9.1.3

With a partner, take turns to ask and answer the questions on tools farmers used in the past.

For example: Partner A: What tools did farmers use to cut crops in the past?

Partner B: In the past, farmers used a sickle to cut crops.

Activity 9.1.4

Choose the correct verb from the brackets to complete each sentence.

1. Yesterday, Akarabo _____ (ask / asks / asked) Muneza about farming tools.
2. Last week, Muneza _____ (say / said / says) they used a sickle.
3. In the past, farmers _____ (used / use / uses) an axe to cut trees.
4. Long ago, they _____ (carried / carries / carry) food in baskets.
5. Many years ago, people _____ (dig / dug / digged) trenches with a hoe.

Grammar

1. Use of simple past tense

The simple past tense is used to talk about actions or events that happened and finished in the past. It often comes with time expressions like: yesterday, last week, two days ago, a year ago, etc.

Affirmative form

Examples:

a) I watched a movie yesterday.

b) They visited the museum last week.

c) She played football with her friends yesterday.

2. Negative form

Examples:

a) I did not (didn't) watch a movie yesterday.

b) They did not (didn't) visit the museum last week.

c) She did not (didn't) play football with her friends yesterday.

3. Interrogative Form

Examples:

a) Did you watch a movie yesterday?

b) Did they visit the museum last week?

c) Did she play football with her friends yesterday?

Activity 9.1.5

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct form of the verb:

1. I _____ (visit) the park yesterday.
2. They _____ (not / play) football last weekend.
3. People _____ (use) a sickle to harvest crops in the past.
4. Farmers _____ (not / have) modern tools like tractors in the past.
5. Did they _____ (use) a hoe to dig the soil?

9.2. Describing farming in the past

Activity 9.2.1

Read the text below and answer the questions that follow.

Farming in the past

A long time ago, farming was very different from how it is today. People did not have machines or modern tools like tractors. Families worked together on small pieces of land near their homes. This kind of farming is called small-scale farming.

Most families grew food to eat at home. Sometimes, they sold a small amount at the market. They planted crops like bananas, cassava, sweet potatoes, sorghum, beans, maize, millet, peas, and pumpkins.

Farmers used local tools such as hoes for digging, machetes for clearing bushes, axes for cutting trees, sickles for harvesting, and baskets for carrying crops. These tools were simple but helpful.

They also kept animals like cows, goats, sheep, and chickens. These animals gave them milk, meat, and manure to help plants grow better. Some fruits that were grown in the past included avocados, papayas, and mangoes.

Farming in the past was simple. People used their hands and worked hard without modern machines. Even though they didn't have many tools, they were able to grow enough food for their families.

Questions

1. Name any three crops that were grown in the past.
2. What local tools were used by farmers in the past?
3. What made farming in the past different from farming today?
4. What does the text mean by "farming was done on a small scale"?
5. What tools do farmers use today that were not used in the past?
6. Why should we respect the way our grandparents farmed?

Activity 9.2.2

Choose the correct word from the box to complete each sentence.

hoes, goats, harvested, sorghum, planted

1. Farmers used simple tools like _____ to dig and weed.
2. They _____ crops when they were ready.
3. People kept animals such as _____ in their homes.
4. Farmers _____ crops to feed their families.
5. Crops like beans, pumpkins, and _____ were grown in the past.

Activity 9.2.3

Work in pairs. One of you will ask questions about farming in the past, and the other will answer using "used to". Then switch roles.

Example:

Pupil A: What crops did people use to grow in the past?
Pupil B: People used to grow sweet potatoes and beans.

Pupil A: How did people use to farm in the past?
Pupil B: They used to farm using their hands.

Activity 9.2.4

Complete the sentences below using the correct past tense of the verbs in brackets.

1. People _farmed_ (farm) without machines in the past.
2. They _____ (plant) crops like cassava and sweet potatoes.
3. Farmers _____ (use) hoes and machetes to work the land.
4. Families _____ (grow) food mainly for their own use.
5. They also _____ (sell) some crops at the market.
6. Farmers _____ (keep) cows, goats, and chickens.
7. The animals _____ (give) them milk and meat.
8. Children _____ (help) their parents in the garden.
9. They _____ (carry) crops in baskets.
10. Farming _____ (depend) on hard work and simple tools.

Activity 9.2.5

Change these sentences into negative and then after, into interrogative form.

1. People used machines in the past.
   → People did not use machines in the past.
   → Did people use machines in the past?
2. Farmers planted many different crops.
   → _____
3. They kept only cows.
   → _____
4. Farming was easy in the past.
   → _____
5. They used modern tools.
   → _____

9.3. Describing agriculture in the present

Activity 9.3.1

Read the text below about agriculture in Rwanda and answer the questions that follow.

Today's farming

Most people in Rwanda earn money through agriculture. Agriculture is the backbone of Rwanda's economy. This is because, it is the major source of domestic income for most people. Agriculture employs a very big percentage of people in the country. Today, farming has changed; farmers grow more food and cash crops using modern tools.

Farmers grow crops like maize, beans, bananas, cassava, sweet potatoes, and pumpkins. They also grow new crops like rice, tea, and coffee to sell and make more money. Farmers also keep animals like cows, goats, pigs, rabbits, and sheep. These animals give them milk, meat, and manure.

Farming today is better than in the past. Farmers now use machines and good farming methods like irrigation (watering crops) and terracing (making steps on hills to stop soil from being washed away). These methods help crops grow well, even when the weather is not good enough.

Farming is important because it gives people food, money, and jobs. Farmers should use good tools and modern methods to grow more food, earn more money, and protect the land for the future.

Comprehension questions

1. Name two crops that farmers in Rwanda grow.
2. How do most people in Rwanda earn money?
3. Why is agriculture referred to as the backbone of Rwanda's economy?
4. What are some of the farming methods farmers use today to improve farming?
5. How does irrigation improve farming?
6. After reading this text, what can you do to support farming in your family or community?

Activity 9.3.2

Unscramble the following words to make correct words related to farming.

1. turelcuagri :.....
2. tractor :.....
3. nanaab:.....
4. zeima:.....
5. crpos:.....

Activity 9.3.3

Match the words in Column A with their correct meanings in Column B.

Column A	Column B
1. Harvest	A. Work of growing food and animals
2. Farming	B. Animal waste used to help plants grow
3. Manure	C. Collecting crops when they are ready
4. Irrigation	D. Giving water to crops using special methods

Activity 9.3.4

Act like a farmer and tell the class three things you do.

Use the sentence starters below to help you:

1. I grow ____ (name of a crop and where or why).
2. I keep ____ (name of an animal and its use).
3. I use ____ (name of a tool and what it helps you do).

Activity 9.3.5

Listen carefully as the teacher reads the passage about farming, then answer the following questions:

The farmer works on his farm every day. He grows maize, beans, bananas, and cassava. He also keeps cows, goats, and chickens, which give him milk, eggs, and meat. He uses a hoe for planting and a tractor for ploughing the land. Each morning, he waters the crops and feeds the animals. Farming helps his family and the community.

1. What crops does the farmer grow?
2. Name two animals kept by the farmer.
3. What is one tool the farmer uses?

Activity 9.3.6

Write 3–5 sentences about farming in your area. Use the following questions to guide you: What crops do people grow?, What animals do they keep?, Why is farming important?

Example sentence starter:

- In my village, farmers grow _____.
- They keep animals like _____.
- Many people work on farms to_____.
- Farming is important because _____.

Activity 9.3.7

Complete these sentences using the correct simple present form of the verb in brackets.

1. My father _plants__ (plant) maize every season.
2. A cow _____ (give) milk every day.
3. We _____ (not/go) to the farm on Sunday.
4. _____ she _____ (wash) vegetables after harvesting?
5. Farmers _____ (need) rain to grow crops.

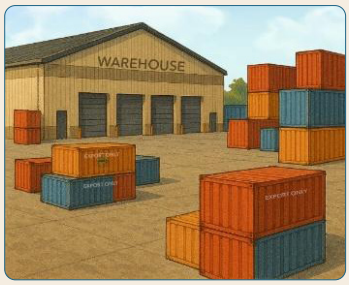
9.4. Describing current agricultural exports and imports

Activity 9.4.1

Read the following dialogue between Sugira and Gatesi.

Answer the questions that follow

Rwanda's imports and exports



Sugira: Hello, Gatesi!
Gatesi: Hello, Sugira! How are you?
Sugira: I'm great! I'm reading about Rwanda's exports. Do you know what exports are?
Gatesi: Yes! Exports are goods that Rwanda sells to other countries, like tea and coffee.
Sugira: That's right! Did you know that Rwanda always exports coffee to Germany?
Gatesi: Really? That's interesting! What about tea? Where does Rwanda export tea to?
Sugira: Rwanda usually exports tea to countries like the United Kingdom and Pakistan.
Gatesi: Does Rwanda export more goods now than it did in the past?
Sugira: Yes, it does! Rwanda exports more goods now than before.
Gatesi: Wow! Now tell me about imports. What are imports?
Sugira: Imports are goods that Rwanda buys from other countries, like food, machines, and fuel.

Gatesi: Why does Rwanda import these things?
Sugira: Because we don't make some of these goods here, or we don't make enough of them.
Gatesi: Which countries do we import goods from?
Sugira: We usually import goods from countries like China, Tanzania, India, and Kenya.
Gatesi: Thank you, Sugira! I now understand how exports and imports help our country.
Sugira: You're welcome, Gatesi!

Questions

1. What are exports, according to Sugira?
2. Which country does Rwanda always export coffee to?
3. Why does Rwanda import goods?
4. How has Rwanda's export of goods changed compared to last year?
5. Why is it important for Rwanda to trade with other countries?

Activity 9.4.2

1. Fill in the missing letters to make correct words

1. E__ por __
2. __ __ actor
3. Tra__ __ port

Activity 9.4.3

Match the words in column A with their meanings in column B

Words	Meanings
1. Exports	A. Items we buy from other countries
2. Imports	B. Items we sell to other countries
3. Goods	C. Oil or gas that is used to make machines run
4. Country	D. A nation with its government
5. Fuel	E. Items that are for sale or owned

Activity 9.4.4

In pairs, take turns asking and answering questions about Rwanda's exports and imports.

For example:

Pupil A: What does Rwanda export to other countries?
Pupil B: Rwanda exports coffee to other countries.

Activity 9.4.5

Listen carefully as the teacher reads the paragraph below and answer the questions.

Rwanda sells goods called exports to other countries. These include tea and coffee. For example, Rwanda sends coffee to Germany and tea to the United Kingdom and Pakistan. Rwanda now sells more goods than before. Rwanda also imports goods, which means buying things from other countries. Some imports are food, machines, and fuel.

Questions:

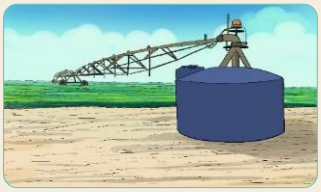
1. What are exports?
2. Name two countries Rwanda sends tea and coffee to.
3. What kinds of goods does Rwanda import?

9.5. Describing agriculture in the future

Activity 9.5.1

Read the dialogue between Mugeni and Gakire. Answer the questions that follow.

Agriculture in future



Mugeni: Hi, Gakire!
Gakire: Hi, Mugeni! How are you?
Mugeni: I'm good! Have you ever thought about what farming in Rwanda will be like in the future?
Gakire: Yes, I have! I think it will be very different. For example, farmers will use more machines like tractors and machines that pick crops.
Mugeni: That's true. I also think there will be more tea and coffee farms, especially in the west and south of Rwanda.
Gakire: In 10 years, Rwanda will sell even more coffee to other countries. This will help our country earn more money.

Mugeni: Yes! And people who grow fruits and vegetables will get more land, so we will see more greenhouses.
Gakire: I agree. In 15 years, there will be bigger farms and new ways to store water and water the crops.
Mugeni: Farmers will also use more fertilizers to grow more crops.
Gakire: And Rwanda will sell more milk, meat, fish, and chicken to other countries.
Mugeni: Farming will be a great job in the future. Many young people will want to become farmers.
Gakire: Would you like to be a farmer one day?
Mugeni: Yes, I would! I think farming will help me earn a lot of money and help my country. What about you?
Gakire: Me too! I want to learn a lot so I can be a good farmer.
Mugeni: Then let's study hard and get ready for the future!

Questions

1. Which products will Rwanda sell more to other countries in the future?
2. What will farmers use more in the future to grow more crops?
3. Why does Mugeni want to be a farmer?
4. What do you think will happen if farmers do not store water for their crops? Explain.
5. Would you like to be a farmer in the future? Why or why not?

Activity 9.5.2

Fill in the missing letters to complete the word.

1. c_ _ ps

5. We need to repair the fence before the rainy season starts.

End of unit assessment

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow

"From Hoe to tractor"

Long ago, Akarabo's grandfather used to farm using a hoe and a machete. He planted sorghum, beans, and cassava. He kept goats and chickens and used baskets to carry crops. His family worked together on a small farm near the village.

Today, Akarabo's parents use modern tools like tractors, sprinklers, and fertilizers. They grow maize, bananas, and vegetables. They also sell milk, eggs, and tea. The farm is bigger and uses terracing and irrigation.

Akarabo dreams of the future. "One day," he says, "we will use robots to farm! We will grow more food and sell it to other countries." His teacher says that young farmers will change Rwanda with smart farming.

Questions:

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Write one sentence from the story that uses the past simple tense.
2. Write one sentence that uses the present simple tense.
3. Write one sentence that uses the future tense with "will."
4. Identify two traditional farming tools and two modern farming tools mentioned.

B. Skills

Reading comprehension

1. What crops did Akarabo's grandfather grow?
2. What tools do Akarabo's parents use now?
3. What does Akarabo think farming will be like in the future?
4. Why does the teacher believe in young farmers?

Writing

Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) comparing farming in the past and today. Include:

- One sentence using "used to"
- One sentence in the present tense
- One sentence in the future tense
- One sentence comparing old and new methods

Speaking

In pairs, ask and answer questions about farming:

- What did people use in the past to farm?
- What tools do your parents or neighbours use today?
- What will farming be like in 10 years?

Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow

"In the past, farmers planted crops by hand. They used simple tools like hoes and sickles. Today, they use tractors, fertilizers, and machines to water crops. In the future, farming will become faster and easier. Farmers will sell more products and earn more money."

Questions

1. How did farmers plant crops in the past?
2. Name two modern tools used today.
3. What will happen to farming in the future?
4. Why will farmers earn more money?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why should we respect traditional farming methods?

2. How can young people help improve agriculture in Rwanda?

Unit 10

GEOGRAPHY OF THE WORLD

Key unit competence:

Communicate effectively about the geography of the world while promoting curiosity, global awareness, and respect for geographical and cultural diversity.

Learning objectives

At the end of this unit, you should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

- Identify and name the continents, major countries, and their capitals.
- Recognize and use geographical terms and prepositions of place.

Skills

- Describe the location of countries and continents using correct prepositions and modal verb can.
- Construct conditional sentences, and geographical descriptions using appropriate language structures.

Attitudes and values

- Appreciate the diversity and uniqueness of different regions and countries around the world.
- Show curiosity and respect for different geographical, cultural, and environmental features globally.

INTRODUCTION

The world is made up of many different places. Some places have mountains, rivers, and forests, while others have deserts, oceans, and big cities. People live in different countries with different ways of life. In this unit, you will learn the names of some countries, what they are known for, and how to talk about the world using maps and pictures.

Introductory activity

Study the map of the world below:

1. What is the name of the continent where Rwanda is located?
2. Use the compass rose to describe the position of Asia in relation to Africa.
3. Why is it important to know the capital city of your country?
4. How can knowing about different continents and oceans help us respect people from other parts of the world?
5. Which oceans are shown on the map, and which one is closest to Rwanda?

10.1. Naming continents, countries and capital cities

Activity 10.1.1

Read the following dialogue and answer the questions that follow.

Naming continents, countries, and capitals

Minani: Hello, Solange! Do you know how many continents are in the world?

Solange: Yes, Minani! There are seven continents in the world.

Minani: Can you name them?

Solange: Yes! There is Africa, Asia, Europe, North America, South America, Australia, and Antarctica.

Minani: Let's start with Africa. What do you know about Africa?

Solange: There are many countries in Africa, like Rwanda – Kigali, Kenya – Nairobi, and Nigeria – Abuja.

Minani: I see you are saying the country and its capital together!

Solange: Yes, Minani. I always say the capital just after the country so I don't forget it.

Minani: That is a good way to learn! Now tell me about Asia.

Solange: There are countries in Asia, like China – Beijing, India – New Delhi, and Thailand – Bangkok.

Minani: Well done! What about Europe?

Solange: There are countries in Europe, like Germany – Berlin, France – Paris, and Spain – Madrid.

Minani: Now let's go to North America.

Solange: In North America, there are countries like Canada – Ottawa, the United States – Washington, D.C., and Cuba – Havana.

Minani: Nice! How about South America?

Solange: There are countries in South America, like Argentina – Buenos Aires, Chile – Santiago, and Peru – Lima.

Minani: Let's talk about Australia now.

Solange: On the continent of Australia, there is a country called Australia. Its capital city is Canberra.

Minani: And the last one is Antarctica. What can you tell me?

Solange: There are no countries in Antarctica, so there are no capitals, but there are places where people do research about ice, animals, and weather.

Minani: You have done well, Solange! Saying the country with its capital helps a lot.

Solange: Thank you, Minani! Learning about the world is easy when we say the countries and capitals together.

Comprehension questions

1. Name the seven continents mentioned in the conversation?
2. What did Solange explain about Antarctica in the dialogue?
3. "Do you think it is important to know where countries and continents are found?"

Activity 10.1.2

Fill in the missing letters to complete the words below.

1. C__ntry
2. __ana__a
3. Co_ _ in__nt
4. B _ _ jing

Activity 10.1.3

Match each word in column A with its meaning in column B.

Column A	Column B
1. Capital city	A. A large piece of land on Earth, like Africa or Asia.

3. Continent	C. A place with its own rules and people, like Rwanda or Kenya.
4. Research	D. All the people, countries, and places on Earth.
5. World	E. The main city in a country where the government works.

Activity 10.1.4

Form groups of three. Each member chooses a different continent and shares one or two countries and their capitals using sentences with "there is" or "there are."

For example: "There is Rwanda in Africa and its capital is Kigali."

Activity 10.1.5

Take turns asking and answering questions about countries and their capitals.

Examples: What is the capital city of Kenya?

Answer: The capital city of Kenya is Nairobi.

Which country has the capital city called Paris?

Answer: France has the capital city called Paris.

Grammar

- We use "There is" to talk about one thing or one person.

Examples:

a) There is a country called Rwanda in East Africa.

b) There is a cat in the garden. (singular countable noun)

c) There is a book on the table.

- We use "There are" to talk about more than one thing or person (plural nouns).

Examples:

a) There are two cats in the garden.

b) There are many books on the shelf.

c) There are countries like Canada and the USA in North America.

Activity 10.1.6

Fill in the blank spaces with the correct form of the verb given in the brackets.

1. There ……..(is/are) a country called Kenya in Africa.
2. ……(Is/are) there a city called Nairobi in Kenya?
3. There…….. (is/are) many mountains in Asia.
4. ……(Is/Are) there countries like Germany and France in Africa?
5. There ……..(is/are) no bus stop near my house.

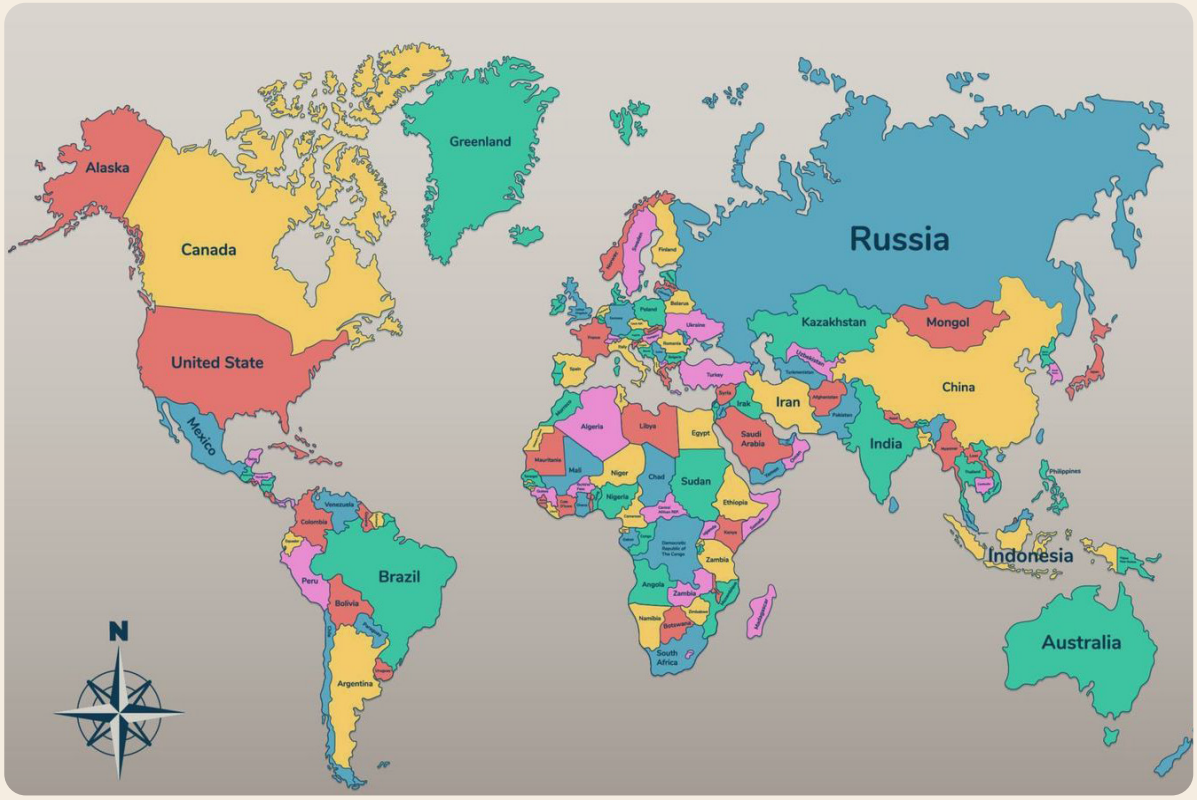
10.2. Describing the position of countries

Activity 10.2.1

Read the following text and answer the questions that follow.



Text: where are the countries located?

Rwanda is a beautiful country in East Africa. It is in the south of Uganda, west of Tanzania, and north of Burundi. Rwanda does not have a sea or ocean, it is not on the coast.

Kenya is also in East Africa. It is on the coast and lies next to the Indian Ocean. This means Kenya has beaches and ships can travel there.

Egypt is in north Africa. It is in the north of Sudan and west of the Red Sea.

Now let's look at some countries outside Africa!

Canada is in north America. It is in the north of the United States. Mexico is also in north America, but it is in the south of the United States.

Brazil is in south America. It is in the east of Peru and south of Venezuela. It is a very big country with many forests.

France is in Europe. It is in the west of Germany and north of Spain.

China is in Asia. It is in the east of India and has the largest population in the world.

Australia is in Oceania. It is far from Africa and surrounded by water on all sides. It is known for animals like kangaroos and koalas.

Questions

1. Where is Rwanda located?
2. If China is in the east of India, where is India?
3. What does it mean when the text says Australia is "surrounded by water"?
4. According to the text, what are two countries that share a border with Rwanda?
5. Why is it important to know about the continents and countries of the world?

Activity 10.2.2

Unscramble the following words to make correct words.

1. AOCEN
2. HNORT
3. EUOREP

Activity 10.2.3

Match the following words in column A with their meanings in column B

Column A	Column B
1. Coast	a) Land completely surrounded by water.
2. Surrounded	c) A very big area of salty water.
4. Border	e) A line that separates two places or countries.
6. Ocean	g) Land next to the sea.
8. Island	i) Having something on all sides.

Activity 10.2.4

Work in pairs. One pupil asks a question and the other answers. Use words and phrases that show where a country is, like in, next to, north of, south of, west of, and east of.

Examples: Pupil A: Where is Rwanda?
Pupil B: Rwanda is in East Africa.

Pupil A: What country is in the north of Sudan?
Pupil B: Egypt is in the north of Sudan.

Activity 10.2.5

Think about your country (Rwanda or any other country you know).

Write 5–6 sentences describing where your country is and the countries that surround it.

Use words like in, on, next to, north of, south of, east of, and west of.

Grammar

Prepositions of place / We use prepositions of place (in, on, west of, east of, west of, east of, south of, next to) to located something.

a) Rwanda is in East Africa. (Rwanda is inside the region of East Africa.)

e) Rwanda is north of Burundi. (Rwanda is located to the north of Burundi.)
f) Mexico is south of the United States. (Mexico is located to the south of the United States.)
g) Rwanda is west of Tanzania. (Rwanda is located to the west of Tanzania)

Activity 10.2.6

Rearrange the words to make correct sentences.

1. Rwanda / is / Africa / in / East ⇒ Rwanda is in East Africa
2. Huye / Gisagara / to / next / is / District / District
3. Kirehe / Ngoma / of / east / District / is / District/ in/ the
4. the / on / Kenya / coast / is
5. Nyagatare / of / south / is / Gatsibo / District / in/ the
6. Tanzania / Rwanda / of / is / west / in/ the
7. Rubavu / District / east / of / Nyabihu / is/ located/ the/ to 10.3. Describing the physical geography of a country

Activity 10.3.1

Read the following text and answer the questions that follow.

Text: The Beautiful Rwanda

Rwanda is a small and beautiful country in East Africa. It has many natural wonders that make it special. These natural wonders are called natural features. These include mountains, hills, lakes, rivers, forests, and wild animals. They help us understand what a country looks like.

One of the most famous features of Rwanda is its many hills. Hills are found all across the country. That's why Rwanda is called "The Land of a Thousand Hills." There are also high mountains, such as Mount Karisimbi, which is found in the north.

Rwanda also has many lakes and rivers filled with fresh water. One of the biggest lakes is Lake Kivu, located in the west. Other lakes include Lake Muhazi and Lake Ihema.

In the south and west, Rwanda has thick green forests. One of the biggest forests is Nyungwe Forest, which is home to many animals. You can also find wild animals in Rwanda's national parks, like Akagera National Park and Volcanoes National Park.

Rwanda is a green and beautiful country with amazing natural features. We should all work together to keep Rwanda clean, green, and safe for everyone.

Questions

a) What does physical geography mean?

b) Why is Rwanda called the land of a thousand hills?

c) What are three natural features found in Rwanda?

d) What can you do in your community to help keep Rwanda green and beautiful?

Activity 10.3.2

Match the words in column A with their meanings in column B

Word	Meaning

End of unit assessment

"A Visit around the world"

One day, Primary Five pupils were reading a book about the world. They discovered that there are seven continents and many countries with different capital cities. They learnt that Africa is their continent, and Rwanda is their country with Kigali as the capital. They found out that Asia has the largest population, and countries like China and India are found there.

They read that the United States of America is in North America and its capital is Washington D.C. France is in Europe, and its capital is Paris. Brazil is the biggest country in South America, with Brasília as its capital. Australia is both a country and a continent, while Antarctica is a very cold place where only scientists live.

The pupils also learnt how to describe the position of countries using compass directions. For example, they said, "Kenya is to the east of Uganda," and "Tanzania is south of Kenya." They used maps, atlases, and globes to understand the geography of the world. They became very curious and respectful of different countries and cultures.

A. Knowledge and understanding

1. Grammar and Vocabulary

1. Write two sentences from the passage that use prepositions of place.
2. Identify two proper nouns of capital cities mentioned.
3. Write one sentence that uses a superlative form.
4. Fill in the blank: "_____ is both a country and a continent."
5. Match the country with its continent:
   - ☐ Brazil → _____
   - ☐ France → _____
   - ☐ China → _____

B. Skills

1. Reading comprehension

a) Which continent has the largest population?

b) What is special about Antarctica?

c) Name three capital cities mentioned in the passage.

d) What materials did the pupils use to learn geography?

2. Writing

Write a short paragraph (5–6 sentences) about a country you would like to visit. Use:

- ☐ One preposition of place
- ☐ One superlative (e.g., biggest, coldest)
- ☐ A reason why you want to visit

3. Speaking

In turns, tell your partner about:

- ☐ The continent you live in
- ☐ A country and its capital from another continent
- ☐ One direction used to describe country locations (e.g., north of, south of)

4. Listen as the teacher reads. Answer questions that follow.

"Last weekend, Eric watched a documentary about countries of the world. He learnt that Canada is in North America and has Ottawa as its capital. He also learnt that Egypt is in Africa, north of Sudan. Japan is in Asia and is famous for technology. Eric said he would like to visit Japan one day."

Questions (Listening Comprehension):

a) What continent is Canada in?

b) Which country is in the north of Sudan?

c) What is Japan famous for?

d) Which country does Eric want to visit?

C. Attitudes and values

1. Why is it important to respect people from other countries and cultures?
2. What did the pupils do that showed curiosity and interest in the world?
